Worse Irish Violence Reported

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Terrorists shot and killed two British soldiers and seriously wounded five others during the night in different parts of Northern Ireland.

At the same time, bombings and outbreaks of shooting at British army patrols and observation posts were reported in Belfast, Londonderry and Dungannon.

One civilian seen aiming a rifle at an army post in Londonderry was shot by troops. A military spokesman said the man fell and was dragged away by sympathizers from the Roman Catholic districts of Creggan and Bogside.

The two soldiers were killed in Belfast and the market town of Dungiven. The other soldiers were wounded in Londonderry. The deaths brought to 104 the number killed in two years in Northern Ireland. Twenty-two soldiers have been killed this year.

Security authorities expressed concern that the wave of attacks could mark the beginning of a new offensive by the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The IRA, seeking to force the British out of the northern province ruled by Protestants for the past century, had threatened to start an offensive last week.

It gave Prime Minister Brian Faulkner's government until midnight Sept. 8 to give up effective power—or face an upsurge in violence.

The deadline passed without any apparently concerted offensive by the gunmen.

Gerry Fitt, leader of Ulster's opposition Social and Democratic Labor party, meanwhile assailed the IRA's militant provisional wing as "madmen living in a world of hate and inhumanity."

Fitt, in a statement issued from the Dublin hospital where he is being treated for a slipped disc, condemned what he called the "brutal rejection" by the provisionals of a peace appeal by Roman Catholic Church leaders in the North.

"If I am to be true to my political principles then when I condemn the use of British bayonets in Northern Ireland I must also condemn the political use of an IRA bomb."

Pesticides, Cancer Linked

Commonly Used On Fruit, Vegetables

WASHINGTON (AP) — A family of pesticides widely used on fruits and vegetables has been linked to cancer in animals by the Food and Drug Administration.

Spurred by the FDA findings, the Environmental Protection Agency is considering whether a ban, or lesser restrictions, should be imposed on some or all of these fungicides known as carbamates.

No decision has been reached, according to Dr. William M. Upholt, EPA's deputy assistant administrator for pesticides programs. He said there appears to be "no clear-cut evidence of imminent hazard to man" from the carbamates.

Dr. Virgil O. Wodickca, director of the FDA's Bureau of Foods, wrote Upholt Aug. 23 that agency scientists had confirmed the chemical ethylene thiourea (ETU) causes cancer of the thyroid gland when fed to rats. A copy of the letter, which was not made public, has been obtained by The Associated Press.

ETU is one of the chemicals that carbamates split into naturally after being sprayed on fruits, vegetables, grass, flowers, bushes and trees.

Traces of carbamate, and presumably ETU, remain on treated fruits and vegetables purchased at food stores, Wodicka said, although the extent is unknown.

"The whole thing is too new" to evaluate the risk, Wodicka said in an interview. "If we find its a problem, we will speak in a louder voice."

Meanwhile, two scientists reported that chemicals used to make bug-killers work better may extend their effect to humans.

Garfunkel Still Prowls Jumbo Jet

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Northwest Orient Airlines is trying to catch a persistent stowaway—a gray, tiger-striped cat named Garfunkel.

He has been prowling a Boeing 747 since he escaped from a cage Aug. 19 while en route from Chicago to Anchorage.

"What he's been eating we're still speculating on," said Dale Roseheim, Northwest cargo manager in Anchorage. "Maybe he's been crawling up into the first-class cabin."

Garfunkel has apparently been hiding between plane's insulation and the cargo bulkhead, said Roseheim.

Airline officials say Garfunkel has probably logged 100,000 miles while the jet has been in continuous service between New York, Chicago, the West Coast and the Orient.

When the cat is caught, it will be rushed to an animal hospital for a checkup, then flown to its owner in Anchorage. In a better cage.

Sheriff Is Injured By Blasting Cap

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Geauga County Sheriff Roy E. Steinfurth, 64, was in fair condition at Huron Road Hospital today recovering from injuries he received when an electrical blasting cap blew up in his left hand.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office said Steinfurth was taking the blasting cap out of his desk when it exploded. The cap had been found by deputies earlier in the day and turned in to Steinfurth.

State Park Systems Won't Reopen Soon

Budget-Tax Law Is Needed First, Director Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Saying it's hard to tell who are the real friends of the state park system, Natural Resources Director William Nye asserted Tuesday that parks cannot be reopened until the Legislature enacts a budget-tax bill.

Nye told newsmen that some of the lawmakers who now are complaining about the closing of 46 state parks in an administration austerity move helped cut $800,000 from the parks appropriation in a bill passed by the House.

"I don't understand how they can cut money from the department's budget on the one hand and now turn around and urge us to spend money which the state does not have and they know it doesn't have," he said.

The park closings were part of an austerity program announced by Gov. John Gilligan after the state had gone two months without a permanent biennial budget.

Nye said the parks will remain shut until the Legislature takes final action on a budget-tax bill.

"Unless that budget is passed," he said, "the parks don't open."

Nye said he was not insisting that the Legislature approve the entire $22 million appropriation sought by the administration for park services.

"But we want some high percentage of that request," he said. "I'm not saying we have to have it all, but some."

The previous two-year state budget, which expired July 1, allocated $28.4 million to operate and maintain the state parks.

"The appropriation we requested would have allowed us to keep pace with the growing need for recreational facilities in Ohio," Nye said.

School Lunch Regulations Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-four senators today asked President Nixon to scrap proposed new school-lunch regulations they said will cost states millions of dollars and force many schools out of the program.

Signers of a letter to the President include Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., chairman of the Senate Agriculture appropriations subcommittee, and Democratic whip Robert Byrd of West Virginia. Ten of the signers are Republicans.

The letter said that under the proposed new regulations, announced by the Agriculture Department just three weeks before most schools began to open, states will be denied millions of federal dollars that would have helped school districts pay for lunches under the old regulations.

As examples, the letter said, Missouri will lose $4 million, California $9 million, Massachusetts $3.24 million, Ohio $5.56 million, Georgia $4.1 million, West Virginia $2.66 million, and Florida $6.91 million.

"The states cannot make up this loss from state or local funds and will have no alternative but to reduce planned participation to stay within the limitations of available funds," the letter said.

"Therefore, many needy and eligible children will go without school lunches," it said. "Certainly this was not the intent o Congress when it passed (the school lunch law), nor your intent when signing it into law on May 14, 1970."

South Viets Find Red Supply Base

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops sweeping the Khe Sanh area near the Laotian border uncovered a major North Vietnamese supply base today and the biggest single cache of munitions in recent months, the South Vietnamese command reported.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien of the command said a patrol of Hac Bao, or Black Panther, troops found a complex of 20 structures that contained more than 400,000 rounds of ammunition, large amounts of wire and fuel and five tons of rice.

Hien said South Vietnamese rangers, also operating near Khe Sanh, found a smaller cache of North Vietnamese munitions. Together, the finds were the largest uncovered since 13,500 South Vietnamese troops launched a major operation Sept. 6 in the northwest corner of the country below the demilitarized zone.

The munitions and supply stores apparently had been abandoned by North Vietnamese troops when they pulled back into Laos and across the DMZ recently under heavy raids by U.S. B52 bombers.

Only scant ground action was reported by the South Vietnamese command.

In four scattered skirmishes, the command said, South Vietnamese forces killed 27 enemy and lost four killed.

The U.S. Command reported a dozen more B52 bomber strikes in the northern sector, half of them in the southern part of the DMZ. The bombers dropped 360 tons of explosives on suspected North Vietnamese troop locations, antiaircraft gun sites and storage areas.

One of the objectives of the 10-day old South Vietnamese drive below the DMZ is to destroy enemy supply depots along the Laotian border at outlets of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The U. S. command announced that two more American Army units, with combined authorized strength of 350 men, had ceased combat operations in preparation for withdrawal from Vietnam. Current U.S. troop strength in Vietnam is 215,000 men and is scheduled to be cut to 184,000 by Dec. 1

School Tax Levy Approved By Voters

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — A 10-mill tax levy for schools has been approved by voters in the Grand Valley School District, enabling schools to reopen Sept. 27.

Unofficial returns showed 1,224 votes for the levy and 473 against. Supt. T. C. Roberts said the money would be used to pay off the district's indebtedness, enabling schools to reopen.

House Repeals Detention Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to repeal a law permitting detention centers for suspected spies and subversives during wartime.

The 356 to 45 vote Tuesday came after two days of debate in which the bill's supporters recalled the imprisonment of 112,000 Japanese-Americans living on the West Coast during World War II.

The Nixon administration supported repeal of the 1950 law to quiet what it described as unfounded rumors that the law might be used to imprison political dissidents.

Confederate Money Found In Chimney

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Workmen demolishing a long-vacant dwelling Tuesday discovered $2,500 in confederate money, stuffed in a chimney.

Local historians said the money had no value and probably had been brought from the South during the Civil War period.

Confirm 8 Slain Hostages At Attica Died Of Gunshots

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — State Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald has confirmed that the hostages slain in the Attica State Prison revolt died of gunshot wounds. But the source of the wounds remained officially unexplained today.

The death toll from the four days of rebellion rose to 42 today when officials at a Buffalo hospital confirmed that a critically wounded Attica inmate had died. The total includes 10 guards and prison employes and 32 prisoners.

Reaction among guards at some other New York State prisons grew into dissension today. Correction officers at Great Meadow Prison in northeastern New York have voted to call for Oswald's ouster.

State police said troopers had been called in to patrol the walls at Clinton Prison in Dannemora.

Autopsies contradicted earlier official reports that inmates had slit the throats of hostages as police began an assault Monday on the rebel-held areas of the maximum-security Attica prison.

But Hollis Chase, president of a union local that represents corrections officers at the prison, insisted that the original story was correct and that the hostages' throats had been slit. He said officials had photographs showing the bodies with cut throats.

In a statement to newsmen late Tuesday, Oswald said one question was how any of the hostages could have been killed by gunfire.

"The most important and obvious answer is the fact that the inmates had dressed all hostages in prison garb to insure difficulty of identification between inmate and hostage,' he said.

"Additionally, hostages could very well have been used as shields or forced forward into gunfire ....

He released a list of weapons found in the prison after the rebellious inmates were routed. The list included gasoline bombs, sharpened spears, metal pipes, straight razors and spiked baseball bats—but no guns.

He declined to answer questions from newsmen.

The commissioners statement came several hours after disclosure by Dr. John F. Edland, Monroe County medical examiner, that the hostages all died of gunshot wounds and that none had had his throat slashed.

Jimmy Doolittle Is Honorary Airline Pilot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Doolittle, old-time racing pilot, pioneer in blind flying leader of the carrier-based first American air raid on Tokyo in World War II, has finally made it to the big time in the airman's world.

After a series of mock loud thumbs-down votes for his many violations of flight rules, the 74-year-old war hero was accorded honorary membership in the Air Line Pilots Association at a black-tie dinner Tuesday night.

"We are in your great debt," said ALPA President John J. O'Donnell of Eastern Air Lines. "You led the way in aviation when it was an unknown quantity to us. You made our job easier and safer."

Kennedy In Israel To Study Hospitals

JERUSALEM (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy toured hospitals in Jerusalem Tuesday to study the Israeli national health services.

Soon after his arrival, the Massachusetts Democrat visited Jerusalem's first aid station, the Shaarei Zedek hospital, and the Hadassah-Hebrew University medical center, regarded as Israel's most modern medical facility.

Pennsylvania Hardest Hit By Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine persons drowned and four were missing in flash floods in Pennsylvania as Tropical Storm Heidi died in the North Atlantic, and residents of the Brownsville, Tex., area awaited the lash of her sister, Edith.

An unnamed depression which threatened to become the ninth tropical storm of the season pushed through the Caribbean toward Venezuela carrying heavy rains and 35-mile-per-hour winds, and Hurricane Ginger continued to sweep the shipping lanes 1,500 miles east of Washington, D.C., with 90 m.p.h. winds.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp declared a state of emergency in Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Chester and Philadelphia counties in southeastern Pennsylvania.

State police in Chester Heights reported five drownings and at Parkersford they reported four more. Chester Police Capt. John Welc said four persons were missing and believed drowned in the Chester area.

The flooding was triggered by a low pressure system that spilled off the Atlantic coast and engulfed Heidi. The National Hurricane Center in Miami said reconnaissance planes could no longer find Heidi.

The low pressure system also dumped heavy rains on Connecticut and New York, and New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay asked Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to declare Staten Island a disaster area because of flooding.

At 9 a.m. today, Edith's center was about 50 miles southeast of Brownsville, which is at the tip of Texas, and was moving north-northeast at 8 to 10 m.p.h.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami shifted its guess of Edith's landfall from Matagorda Bay on Texas' central coast to the central Louisiana coast.

Candidate Is Chosen In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Howard Cook, a Republican, will challenge incumbent Democratic Mayor Harry Kessler in the November election.

Cook topped a field of four mayor candidates in a municipal primary election Tuesday with 34,544 votes. Kessler had 27,028.

Eliminated in the balloting were two independents, Robert Ferris Jr., with 10,421 votes, and the Rev. James Spencer, with 3,491.

All incumbent city councilmen won nomination, led by Democrat Carol Pietrykowski with 50,638 votes. The field of 16 was cut in half for the general election.

Toledoans rejected by a 38,566 to 23,110 vote a proposed additional five-mill school operating levy which officials contended was needed to keep classes at an average of 28 pupils per room.

School Supt. Frank Dick said the proposal might be put on the ballot again later this year.

Tough Strip Mine Bill Ties Up Ohio House Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Reflecting the legislative pace set by the Senate in tax and budget deliberations, the House Environment and Natural Resources Committee spent six gruelling hours Tuesday thumbing through its tough omnibus strip mine bill. Then called everyone back for more of the same today.

A subcommittee on strip mining last week recommended the measure to the full committee following nearly three months of study and reworking. Chairman Kenneth Cresy, R-18 Delaware, promised fast action on the bill.

Committee time Tuesday was spent hearing familiar opponent testimony to the subcommittee report. Substantive amendments to it, planned for introduction, were postponed until today's afternoon meeting.

As it came from subcommittee, the bill's toughest new sections provided for:

—Inspection officers within the Division of Forestry and Reclamation, Department of Natural Resources, with immunity from arrest for trespass and the absolute right to enter strip mine operations to check for violations.

—Licensing at a cost of $150, plus an additional $30 for each acre of land to be strip mined. The per acre cost is now $15.

—The withholding or revocation of those operators failing to comply with state standards.

—Operation plans to be filed with the division chief prior to the star of mining. The plans would spell out intended future use of the land, steps to avert water pollution, reclamation plans, and a timetable.

—Bond requirements "sufficient" to cover the costs of reclamation in case of default, with a minimum bond of $5,000. Current law requires a surety bond of $300 per acre.

—Reclamation to begin with in three months after coal seams are uncovered. Reclamation work — including resoiling — must be completed within six months after mining operations have ended.

—Land to be restored to its original contour.

One amendment to be offered, sponsored by Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, would restore to the measure language requiring liability insurance on mining operations. Similar provisions were taken from the bill during subcommittee study.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee tried its hand at hearings Tuesday, with much the same result. The committee, under Sen. Michael Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, is in its third month of consideration of a state tax plan for the state.

Tuesday's witnesses spoke against business tax amendments to personal and corporate income tax legislation now under committee scrutiny.

More hearings are set today.

No significant movement was evident in the tax-budget stalemate that has tied up the Legislature since March.

In Senate floor action, a bill to shift the state's Appalachian development programs from

State Park Systems Won't Reopen Soon

Budget-Tax Law Is Needed First, Director Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Saying it's hard to tell who are the real friends of the state park system, Natural Resources Director William Nye asserted Tuesday that parks cannot be reopened until the Legislature enacts a budget-tax bill.

Nye told newsmen that some of the lawmakers who now are complaining about the closing of 46 state parks in an administration austerity move helped cut $800,000 from the parks appropriation in a bill passed by the House.

South Viets Find Red Supply Base

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops sweeping the Khe Sanh area near the Laotian border uncovered a major North Vietnamese supply base today and the biggest single cache of munitions in recent months, the South Vietnamese command reported.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien of the command said a patrol of Hac Bao, or Black Panther, troops found a complex of 20 structures that contained more than 400,000 rounds of ammunition, large amounts of wire and fuel and five tons of rice.

Jimmy Doolittle Is Honorary Airline Pilot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Doolittle, old-time racing pilot, pioneer in blind flying leader of the carrier-based first American air raid on Tokyo in World War II, has finally made it to the big time in the airman's world.

After a series of mock loud thumbs-down votes for his many violations of flight rules, the 74-year-old war hero was accorded honorary membership in the Air Line Pilots Association at a black-tie dinner Tuesday night.

"We are in your great debt," said ALPA President John J. O'Donnell of Eastern Air Lines. "You led the way in aviation when it was an unknown quantity to us. You made our job easier and safer."

Kennedy In Israel To Study Hospitals

JERUSALEM (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy toured hospitals in Jerusalem Tuesday to study the Israeli national health services.

Soon after his arrival, the Massachusetts Democrat visited Jerusalem's first aid station, the Shaarei Zedek hospital, and the Hadassah-Hebrew University medical center, regarded as Israel's most modern medical facility.

Pennsylvania Hardest Hit By Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine persons drowned and four were missing in flash floods in Pennsylvania as Tropical Storm Heidi died in the North Atlantic, and residents of the Brownsville, Tex., area awaited the lash of her sister, Edith.

An unnamed depression which threatened to become the ninth tropical storm of the season pushed through the Caribbean toward Venezuela carrying heavy rains and 35-mile-per-hour winds, and Hurricane Ginger continued to sweep the shipping lanes 1,500 miles east of Washington, D.C., with 90 m.p.h. winds.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp declared a state of emergency in Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Chester and Philadelphia counties in southeastern Pennsylvania.

State police in Chester Heights reported five drownings and at Parkersford they reported four more. Chester Police Capt. John Welc said four persons were missing and believed drowned in the Chester area.

The flooding was triggered by a low pressure system that spilled off the Atlantic coast and engulfed Heidi. The National Hurricane Center in Miami said reconnaissance planes could no longer find Heidi.

The low pressure system also dumped heavy rains on Connecticut and New York, and New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay asked Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to declare Staten Island a disaster area because of flooding.

At 9 a.m. today, Edith's center was about 50 miles southeast of Brownsville, which is at the tip of Texas, and was moving north-northeast at 8 to 10 m.p.h.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami shifted its guess of Edith's landfall from Matagorda Bay on Texas' central coast to the central Louisiana coast.

Candidate Is Chosen In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Howard Cook, a Republican, will challenge incumbent Democratic Mayor Harry Kessler in the November election.

Cook topped a field of four mayor candidates in a municipal primary election Tuesday with 34,544 votes. Kessler had 27,028.

Eliminated in the balloting were two independents, Robert Ferris Jr., with 10,421 votes, and the Rev. James Spencer, with 3,491.

All incumbent city councilmen won nomination, led by Democrat Carol Pietrykowski with 50,638 votes. The field of 16 was cut in half for the general election.

Toledoans rejected by a 38,566 to 23,110 vote a proposed additional five-mill school operating levy which officials contended was needed to keep classes at an average of 28 pupils per room.

School Supt. Frank Dick said the proposal might be put on the ballot again later this year.

Tough Strip Mine Bill Ties Up Ohio House Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Reflecting the legislative pace set by the Senate in tax and budget deliberations, the House Environment and Natural Resources Committee spent six gruelling hours Tuesday thumbing through its tough omnibus strip mine bill. Then called everyone back for more of the same today.

A subcommittee on strip mining last week recommended the measure to the full committee following nearly three months of study and reworking. Chairman Kenneth Cresy, R-18 Delaware, promised fast action on the bill.

Committee time Tuesday was spent hearing familiar opponent testimony to the subcommittee report. Substantive amendments to it, planned for introduction, were postponed until today's afternoon meeting.

As it came from subcommittee, the bill's toughest new sections provided for:

—Inspection officers within the Division of Forestry and Reclamation, Department of Natural Resources, with immunity from arrest for trespass and the absolute right to enter strip mine operations to check for violations.

—Licensing at a cost of $150, plus an additional $30 for each acre of land to be strip mined. The per acre cost is now $15.

—The withholding or revocation of those operators failing to comply with state standards.

—Operation plans to be filed with the division chief prior to the star of mining. The plans would spell out intended future use of the land, steps to avert water pollution, reclamation plans, and a timetable.

—Bond requirements "sufficient" to cover the costs of reclamation in case of default, with a minimum bond of $5,000. Current law requires a surety bond of $300 per acre.

—Reclamation to begin with in three months after coal seams are uncovered. Reclamation work — including resoiling — must be completed within six months after mining operations have ended.

—Land to be restored to its original contour.

One amendment to be offered, sponsored by Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, would restore to the measure language requiring liability insurance on mining operations. Similar provisions were taken from the bill during subcommittee study.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee tried its hand at hearings Tuesday, with much the same result. The committee, under Sen. Michael Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, is in its third month of consideration of a state tax plan for the state.

Tuesday's witnesses spoke against business tax amendments to personal and corporate income tax legislation now under committee scrutiny.

More hearings are set today.

No significant movement was evident in the tax-budget stalemate that has tied up the Legislature since March.

1700 Attend Annual GE Picnic At Columbus Zoo

Approximately 1,700 General Electric employes and guests attended the 23rd annual Circleville Lamp Plant Picnic, held Sept. 11 at Zoo Park in Columbus, according to E. G. Grigg, Plant Manager.

Activities of the day included free rides for everyone on the Park's major amusement rides, free soft drinks, candy and coffee and drawings for door prizes. Bingo was played and enjoyed by several hundred of the employees and guests from 1 to 4 p.m. in the ballroom.

At 4 p.m. the picnic was climaxed by the drawings for GE small appliances. Grand prizes were the winner's choice of one of four GE products, including a clothes dryer, mobile dishwasher, portable TV or room air conditioner. The grand prizes were won by Diane Lauderdale and Paul Ott, who chose dishwashers.

Judge Denies Order For Zoning Issue

Judge J. William Ratcliff of Ross County has released an official opinion denying the writ of mandamus requested by residents of Washington Twp. to have a zoning issue appear on the ballot in November.

The mandamus action was filed to force the Pickaway County Board of Election to place the issue on the ballot. They have refused to follow such a course of action previously, claiming that information on the petitions circulated among the voters was incomplete.

Judge Ratcliff, who was assigned to this case, claims that an appeal filed through the local common pleas court is the proper method of seeking a legal settlement on the issue. Attorney for the petitioners claims that they were informed by the Secretary of State's office that the mandamus action was the proper course to follow. They have a choice to appeal the judge's decision or to file the appeal of the election board's decision. The attorney indicated that it would probably be the latter.

The zoning change would allow a mobile home village to be built on the lands of Jim Trimmer.

Arraignment Held For 12

Twelve persons appeared Wednesday for arraignment after being indicted by the September grand jury.

Two men were not present today. James E. Claypool Jr., charged with assaulting his landlady in an alleged robbery intent, is still at Lima State Hospital. Richard Brink, wanted for defrauding an inn keeper, did not appear so Judge William Ammer ordered his bond forfeited and a capias issued for his arrest. His charge was filed after he left the Quality Courts Motel without paying his bill.

Having their hearings continued until 10 a.m. next Wednesday were five persons. Dale D. Reese and Jeffrey Babcock, two young Columbus men arrested for the theft of tires and auto parts from Jack Clark's auto graveyard in Williamsport, are to appear next week. A juvenile was also involved. His case is being handled in the lcal juvenile court.

Hearing was continued for Paul McMackin, Gloria Patterson and Kenneth Davis to allow them to obtain legal assistance. McMackin is charged with obtaining property under false pretenses, the woman with issuing a bad check and Davis with kidnapping a little girl when he failed to return her to her home after a shopping trip.

Lowell Patrick Stanley and Alvin Gerguson both entered guilty pleas and were placed under probation for three-year periods. Stanley was charged with embezzling some $1,000 in parts from Jack Clark in Williamsport. Ferguson was indicted for issuing a bad check. Both were ordered to make restitution.

James Lee Wright pleaded innocent to a non-support charge. The court agreed to reduce a charge against Mary Lou Hart to assault and battery stemming from a domestic problem.

Two men charged with assault in a fight at Jack's Tavern each entered pleas of not guilty. A hearing on a charge of grand larceny and breaking into a parking meter filed against David Campbell Jr. were continued to allow him to get an attorney.

Two others, indicted secretly, were not available for arraignment procedures today.

Ashville Man In 2 Wrecks

Alvin Van Hoose, 45, Ashville, is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court to answer four separate charges filed by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department following two separate accidents Tuesday night.

According to the sheriff's report, Van Hoose was apparently traveling east on Perrill Road 5 p.m. Tuesday. After halting for a stop sign, he allegedly pulled in front of a car driven by Thomas Perry, Columbus, who was northbound on the Circleville - Groveport Road.

Van Hoose apparently discharged his passengers t investigate the estimated $200 damage to erry's auto, then left the scene of the wreck.

Approximately 1½ miles from the intersection, he lost control of his car coming over a rise in Perrill Road and slid into a ditch, with the car flipping over and pinning hm nside.

Deputy Lowell Ferguson pulled him from the wreckage and sent him to Berger Hospital for treatment of contusions of the right shoulder and abrasions.

Sheriff's Deputy James Deal charged Van Hoose with failure to yield the right of way and leaving the scene of an accident following the first accident. Ferguson filed charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and having no operator's license following his investigation of the second wreck.

The car sustained heavy damage.

WELL CHILD CLINIC — Dr. F. W. Anderson and Mrs. A. E. Carter voluntarily serve the Pickaway County Well-Child Clinic, enabling the organization to spend all of its funds for medical supplies. The clinic is an agency of the Community Fund.

Well Child Clinic Goal To Protect All Children

When you as a responsible, concerned person of this community contribute to the annual drive for the Pickaway Community Fund, you are providing additional health insurance for your own children by helping provide free immunization and extended health care for those less fortunate than your children.

Therefore, even though you have made many trips to your family doctor's office to secure all those different vaccines for each of your children, unfortunately with none of them are you one-hundred per cent positive your child will not develop the disease if exposed to a child with a communicable disease.

Thus, the providing of all immunizations to the less advantaged child is probably the most important function of Well Child Clinic.

During 1970, a total of three hundred and thirteen new patients were admitted to the Clinic from Circleville and Pickaway County. Total patients enrolled for Clinic Service never is under five-hundred.

Well Child Clinic operates on 4 per cent of the total Community Fund which amounts to $3000.00 annually. Factually one would wonder how so much for so little is possible, but then when the public is informed that the local physician, registered nurses, medical auxillary, Red Cross volunteers, La Sertoma Members, PICCA, City Health Department and other volunteers staff the Clinic on a voluntary basis and all funds are used for medical supplies and medical, surgical follow-up, one understands how so much is accomplished.

The fact that the Board of Governors of Berger Hospital and the hospital administrator, John Reed, have cooperated to such a great extent in providing space and laboratory service when needed, has also made the clinic possible.

Sheriff Spoils Theft Try At Teays Valley

Lancaster Pair Nabbed After 5-Mile Chase

Two Lancaster men, one an ex-convict, apprehended after after a high speed chase early this morning are in the Pickaway County Jail awaiting arraignment for attempted grand larceny at the Teays Valley High School.

Charles L. Downs, 26, and Rickie L. Cordle, 18, were arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff after a five-mile chase near Walnut Creek Pike following the breaking and entering attempt.

Sheriff's Deputy Phil Brown, on routine patrol early Wednesday, discovered two air conditioners and a television set behind the TV school. Immediately callinng deputy Don Thompson, Sheriff Radcliff and Ashville - based auxiliary deputies Bob Featheringham and Vaughn Herdman, Brown checked the grounds and found intruders had removed an air conditioner from an office window and gained access to the school.

Herdman, upon arrival, spotted Downs' car parked near the school.

The deputies surrounded the building and attempted an entrance, when the suspects drove away with Radcliff in close pursuit.

They had apparently been hiding in a field behind the school.

Besides being charged with grand larceny for the estimated $650 worth of merchandise recovered, the pair is also being held on one count of breaking and entering.

the Departmet of Urban Affairs to the Department of Developmen passed 29-0.

Since the Gilligan administration took office in January, the focus of the Department of Urban Affairs has turned to law enforcement and urban housing, with Appalachian programs downgraded to a part-time function.

Administration officials say the departmental shift will involve neither increases in cost nor additional personnel.

The bill's only major change eliminates the post of director of the Ohio Office of Appalachia, replacing it with a staff appointed by the development director to administer operations.

Funds for Appalachian projects comes principally from federal sources. Twenty-eight of Ohio's counties benefit directly from the programs.

The bill moves now to the House.

Arraignment Held For 12

Twelve persons appeared Wednesday for arraignment after being indicted by the September grand jury.

Two men were not present today. James E. Claypool Jr., charged with assaulting his landlady in an alleged robbery intent, is still at Lima State Hospital. Richard Brink, wanted for defrauding an inn keeper, did not appear so Judge William Ammer ordered his bond forfeited and a capias issued for his arrest. His charge was filed after he left the Quality Courts Motel without paying his bill.

Having their hearings continued until 10 a.m. next Wednesday were five persons. Dale D. Reese and Jeffrey Babcock, two young Columbus men arrested for the theft of tires and auto parts from Jack Clark's auto graveyard in Williamsport, are to appear next week. A juvenile was also involved. His case is being handled in the lcal juvenile court.

Hearing was continued for Paul McMackin, Gloria Patterson and Kenneth Davis to allow them to obtain legal assistance. McMackin is charged with obtaining property under false pretenses, the woman with issuing a bad check and Davis with kidnapping a little girl when he failed to return her to her home after a shopping trip.

Lowell Patrick Stanley and Alvin Gerguson both entered guilty pleas and were placed under probation for three-year periods. Stanley was charged with embezzling some $1,000 in parts from Jack Clark in Williamsport. Ferguson was indicted for issuing a bad check. Both were ordered to make restitution.

James Lee Wright pleaded innocent to a non-support charge. The court agreed to reduce a charge against Mary Lou Hart to assault and battery stemming from a domestic problem.

Two men charged with assault in a fight at Jack's Tavern each entered pleas of not guilty. A hearing on a charge of grand larceny and breaking into a parking meter filed against David Campbell Jr. were continued to allow him to get an attorney.

Two others, indicted secretly, were not available for arraignment procedures today.

Ashville Man In 2 Wrecks

Alvin Van Hoose, 45, Ashville, is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court to answer four separate charges filed by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department following two separate accidents Tuesday night.

According to the sheriff's report, Van Hoose was apparently traveling east on Perrill Road 5 p.m. Tuesday. After halting for a stop sign, he allegedly pulled in front of a car driven by Thomas Perry, Columbus, who was northbound on the Circleville - Groveport Road.

Van Hoose apparently discharged his passengers t investigate the estimated $200 damage to erry's auto, then left the scene of the wreck.

Approximately 1½ miles from the intersection, he lost control of his car coming over a rise in Perrill Road and slid into a ditch, with the car flipping over and pinning hm nside.

Deputy Lowell Ferguson pulled him from the wreckage and sent him to Berger Hospital for treatment of contusions of the right shoulder and abrasions.

Sheriff's Deputy James Deal charged Van Hoose with failure to yield the right of way and leaving the scene of an accident following the first accident. Ferguson filed charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and having no operator's license following his investigation of the second wreck.

The car sustained heavy damage.

WELL CHILD CLINIC — Dr. F. W. Anderson and Mrs. A. E. Carter voluntarily serve the Pickaway County Well-Child Clinic, enabling the organization to spend all of its funds for medical supplies. The clinic is an agency of the Community Fund.

Well Child Clinic Goal To Protect All Children

When you as a responsible, concerned person of this community contribute to the annual drive for the Pickaway Community Fund, you are providing additional health insurance for your own children by helping provide free immunization and extended health care for those less fortunate than your children.

Therefore, even though you have made many trips to your family doctor's office to secure all those different vaccines for each of your children, unfortunately with none of them are you one-hundred per cent positive your child will not develop the disease if exposed to a child with a communicable disease.

Thus, the providing of all immunizations to the less advantaged child is probably the most important function of Well Child Clinic.

During 1970, a total of three hundred and thirteen new patients were admitted to the Clinic from Circleville and Pickaway County. Total patients enrolled for Clinic Service never is under five-hundred.

Well Child Clinic operates on 4 per cent of the total Community Fund which amounts to $3000.00 annually. Factually one would wonder how so much for so little is possible, but then when the public is informed that the local physician, registered nurses, medical auxillary, Red Cross volunteers, La Sertoma Members, PICCA, City Health Department and other volunteers staff the Clinic on a voluntary basis and all funds are used for medical supplies and medical, surgical follow-up, one understands how so much is accomplished.

The fact that the Board of Governors of Berger Hospital and the hospital administrator, John Reed, have cooperated to such a great extent in providing space and laboratory service when needed, has also made the clinic possible.

Sheriff Spoils Theft Try At Teays Valley

Lancaster Pair Nabbed After 5-Mile Chase

Two Lancaster men, one an ex-convict, apprehended after after a high speed chase early this morning are in the Pickaway County Jail awaiting arraignment for attempted grand larceny at the Teays Valley High School.

Charles L. Downs, 26, and Rickie L. Cordle, 18, were arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff after a five-mile chase near Walnut Creek Pike following the breaking and entering attempt.

Sheriff's Deputy Phil Brown, on routine patrol early Wednesday, discovered two air conditioners and a television set behind the TV school. Immediately callinng deputy Don Thompson, Sheriff Radcliff and Ashville - based auxiliary deputies Bob Featheringham and Vaughn Herdman, Brown checked the grounds and found intruders had removed an air conditioner from an office window and gained access to the school.

Herdman, upon arrival, spotted Downs' car parked near the school.

The deputies surrounded the building and attempted an entrance, when the suspects drove away with Radcliff in close pursuit.

They had apparently been hiding in a field behind the school.

Besides being charged with grand larceny for the estimated $650 worth of merchandise recovered, the pair is also being held on one count of breaking and entering.

the Departmet of Urban Affairs to the Department of Developmen passed 29-0.

Since the Gilligan administration took office in January, the focus of the Department of Urban Affairs has turned to law enforcement and urban housing, with Appalachian programs downgraded to a part-time function.

Administration officials say the departmental shift will involve neither increases in cost nor additional personnel.

The bill's only major change eliminates the post of director of the Ohio Office of Appalachia, replacing it with a staff appointed by the development director to administer operations.

Funds for Appalachian projects comes principally from federal sources. Twenty-eight of Ohio's counties benefit directly from the programs.

The bill moves now to the House.

After years of stalemates, actions in the foreign policy field so far in 1971 have at least unlocked the doors to agreements and innovations with great potential for future relations among governments.

The upcoming presidential trip to Red China, the big four agreement on Berlin agreement, details of which are Russia, and the meeting between the President and the emperor of Japan in Alaska in September all are breakthroughs of one kind or another.

Some of them may lead no further, but the magic of an initial meeting or agreement is that it frequently leads to addiional steps of recognition. The Berlin agreement, details of which are not yet public, offers hope for all of Europe because it appears the thorniest issue separating East and West on the continent is about to be defused.

In Asia, certainly the presidential trip to Peking offers the possibility of similar rapprochement. Even so, at this point in history it would be misleading to read too much into any of the foreign policy moves, except that the status quo appears to be changing.

The Berlin wall still stands in all its misery. Red China has not been admitted into the family of nations as a member in good standing. The economic frictions between the United States and Japan and others have not been resolved, and the question of rivalry between Moscow and Peking intrudes into almost every international discussion.

The world has taken some steps away from confrontation and toward cooperation. How sincerely those steps have been taken, and whether they were rooted in reality, will be revealed by the follow-up.

Radicals Up The Ante

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Belfast — When I was in Northern Ireland a year and a half ago, everything was "confrontation." Rocks were being thrown in the Bogside of Londonderry, where a purely local Catholic majority (Northern Ireland is actually two-thirds Protestant as a whole) resented the very sight of an "Orangeman." The cry was for "civil rights" — one man, one vote, equality before the law and all that. Bernadette Devlin, the Joan of Arc of the Republican radicals, was being tried for alleged violence on the barricades.

Today the "confrontation" period is over. The civil rights movement has been a success: there is a universal franchise in Northern Ireland, and the property qualifications for the vote have disappeared. No visitor can pontificate on the nature of job-giving in small, family-owned industry (prejudices don't necessarily come out into the open), but the big foreign firms that have been building here — DuPont, Hughes Tool, Goodyear — couldn't care less about the nature of a man's religion or politics when they hire him. The international companies make money and get good skilled work out of all shades of Irishmen. So why isn't Ulster a relatively happy spot?

A thoroughly perplexed government — the Stormont government, which the radicals want to bring down — is up against something we have seen in the history of black-white relations in America: as things get better, they paradoxically get worse. As it turns out, part of the civil rights movement in Northern Ireland never really cared much about civil rights, or even about improved housing. This part – and it includes Bernadette Devlin, who is currently being commended for her morality in having an illegitimate child rather than an abortion — has upped the ante. There is the old familiar demand for a "united Ireland." But beyond that, there has been a "Cubanization" of the radical movement. Miss Devlin and her friends are pushing to overthrow the middle-class regimes in both areas of divided Ireland. They want to unite the island as a workers' republic, more socialist than the Moscow which Miss Devlin actually despises for its "bourgeois" tendencies.

The social struggle resulting from the fiburcation of the civil rights movement has been most frustrating for the Stormont. "Confrontation" has been replaced by indirection. Barricades have disappeared. The bombers work in the dark, wrecking an electrical pylon here, a police station there, and sometimes blowing up the quite innocent employees — many of them Catholics — who happen to be working in public utility and welfare offices. The records of the Ulster Defense Regiment seizure of weapons are interesting: in 1970 there were no pipe-nail bombs seized, but in the first seven months of 1971 caches of 1,094 samples of this particularly unpleasant form of weapon have been uncovered. The list of seized explosives other than pipe-nail items has jumped from 229 in 1970 to 1,408 in 1971. And this year is far from over.

How do you deal with indirection? Brian Faulkner, the Stormont government's Prime Minister, with the full backing of the Heat Conservative government in London, obviously thinks that blunt means are necessary. Hence the order to pick up every IRA suspect on a government list (including retired revolutionaries in their 60s) for incarceration on a ship in Belfast Harbor. And hence the effort to keep IRA agents like Joe Cahill from going to America to raise money for "killing Britons," which happens to be a crude euphemism for anybody who wants to keep the six northern counties of Ireland as part of the United Kingdom.

The detention order has been criticized by civil libertarians as being "ham-handed." I talked with some Catholic priests who lamented the fact that the government did not come to them for advice about some of their allegedly more dangerous parishioners. But, as the Nixon Administration found in Washington last spring, when an effort is being made to "stop the government" there is no time for niceties. The most important question is why the bombings have increased in intensity after the detentions. And this would seem to point to the border, which is only a couple of hours away from almost any point in Northern Ireland. The key to everything is cooperation with the Dublin government in drying up the violence, which, if it goes on, will bring down both governments in the end.

Henderson Says Testimony Proving Nothing Either Way

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson says the jury trying him for attempting to conceal the horror of My Lai "is being conditioned like an audience being sold soap."

"It's a selling technique—this repetition," Henderson said in an interview after the prosecution presented its 40th witness Monday. "I don't see from the over-all testimony a damn thing that helps me, but nothing points a finger at me either."

Most of the prosecution witnesses in the cover-up court-martial, now in its fourth week, have recounted the bloody assault on March 16, 1968, when more than 100 unarmed civilians died before the guns of American soldiers.

Henderson, decorated and wounded in three wars, is charged with failing to investigate the allegations of war crimes thoroughly, falling to report them to higher headquarters as required by Army regulations and then lying twice to an Army board of inquiry. He was commander of the Americal Division's 11th Brigade, parent unit of the task force which assaulted My Lai.

None of the questioning to date has related to the charge of failing to transmit the report of war crimes or to lying to the board headed by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers late in 1969 and in 1970. The first specification has been approached with only a few questions to most witnesses on whether they had been interrogated by Henderson or others.

The testimony of witness No. 40, Jerry Lesher of Clendenin, W. Va., was typical. Lesher, a door gunner in a helicopter supporting the ground troops, talked of seeing 15 to 20 bodies in a ditch from 100 feet up.

Javelina Is Stock Killer In Texas

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — The "thing" that was bothering Fulton Setphens' livestock and poultry near Summer in Lamar County turned out to be a 42-pound javelina.

The animals are strangers in these parts. But Stephens proved his point by killing the javelina when it invaded his barnyard. Wildlife officials said it must have been transported here then escaped from its owners.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PROMINENT attorney Irving Engel submits the following: There was a hotly contested law suit in Vermont in which the result depended largely on the credibility of a local young woman. The oldest native in the town was called as a witness. After he had been sworn, the following colloquy took place between him and the attorney for the plaintiff:

Q. Do you know Miss Mary Jones, who has testified in this case?

A. Yes; I have known her all her life.

Q. Tell the court and the jury, what is her reputation for truth and veracity?

A. As for truth, it is all right; she won't tell a lie. But as for veracity, I don't know; some say she do and some say she don't.

A learned Biblical scholar estimates that Job must have been the youngest blasphemer in history, for does not the Bible disclose that he cursed the hour he was born?

An Indian chief stamped into court demanding an immediate divorce from his beautiful squaw, Shimmering Water.

"But, Chief," demurred the judge. "Shimmering Water's won the state beauty contest three years running! How can you bear the thought of shedding a glorious mate like that?"

Explained the chief: "When me plant corn, me get corn. When me plant barley, me get barley. But when me plant Indian and me get paleface, me want divorce!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Almost every year in the spring a small patch of hair about the size of a half dollar falls out of my head. Could this be a vitamin deficiency or could it be caused by improper diet?

Miss H. M., Ala.

Dear Miss M.: The condition you describe is known as Alopecia (loss of hair) Areata. Almost always a fine gentle fuzz appears after a few weeks and before long the hair grows back normally.

The fact that it seems to occur only in the spring strikes me as being purely coincidental. I doubt that a vitamin deficiency can be the cause, assuming you are eating a normal diet.

Skin infection, especially caused by a fungus, emotional stress and sometimes even thyroid deficiences may be causative factors. When people are given the reassurance that such localized baldness rarely extends and rarely is permanent, it tides them over until that strange welcome fuzz appears.

Why does a blow to the solar plexus knock a person out? I was hit by a basket ball in a high school game and thought I was done for.

T. W. S., N. Y.

Dear Tim: Anyone who has boxed or engaged in contact sport appreciates the miserable sensation you describe.

The solar plexus is the spot where a large collection of nerves congregate just beneath the breast bone. A blow there may also knock out the breath by hitting the diaphragm that separates the abdomen from the chest.

I have always wondered how boxers can take such severe body blows and still survive. It is a testimonial to their excellent condition and to the protective muscles that they develop.

In order to be sure that no serious damage occurs in active sports, good protective equipment must always be used.

Have you ever heard the term Commando Operation? What could it possibly mean?

Mr. S. L., Mich.

Dear Mr. L.: I don't know how the term came to be applied to surgery but such an operation does exist. In essence it refers to a very radical and courageous operation for the removal of an extensive cancer of the neck.

This daring surgical technique is responsible for saving many lives that might otherwise have been lost. Such surgical procedures on the neck are how performed with transplants of tissue to make speech and swallowing again possible.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 15, the 258th day of 1971. There are 107 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, Konrad Adenauer became the first chancellor of West Germany.

On this date:

In 1777, the Polish aristocrat Count Casimir Pulaski was commissioned a major general in the American Revolutionary Army.

In 1789, the U.S. Department of Foreign Affairs changed its name to the Department of State.

In 1914, during World War I, German New Guinea and the Bismarck Archipelago surrendered to the British.

In 1938, Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew to Germany to try to mediate a German-Czechoslovak dispute.

In 1942, German armies attacked the Soviet city of Stalingrad.

In 1959, Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Washington to begin a 13-day U.S. visit.

Ten years ago: The United States resumed nuclear testing after a voluntary three-year suspension. A small underground explosion was set off in Nevada.

Five years ago: The U.S. Gemini II spacecraft, carrying two astronauts, made a bull's-eye landing in the Atlantic after three days in space.

One year ago: All 156 persons aboard an Italian jetliner survived after the plane split apart upon landing at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport.

According To Boyle

By D. M. KREISHER (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — For those parents whose infant is just starting to mumble those first precious words, a warning: Don't encourage him too much.

For every time you say to each other, "Oh, how cute it will be when Julius can talk' you'll probably wish later for a return to those days of goo and da-da.

Reason enough is the fact that one of the first things a child learns to say is: "What's that?" This, or some reasonable facsimile usually is accompanied by a vague wave of the hand or insistant point of a finger toward some animate or inanimate object just within sight.

From first awakening to final "night-night," it comes like a scratched record: "Whas at? Whas at?" taking in everything in the house, at least twice and most of the things visible out the window. It also covers most major and many minor sounds that resound into his tiny world.

His curiosity is boundless, but his memory is short.

It's a bit unnerving to have this chip off the old block on whom you lavished so much attention only last night greet you on awakening with a pointing finger jabbing and a surprised "Whas at?"

And your long, patient explanation of what you're doing covering your face with cream and slashing yourself with a razor will be rewarded the next morning with a wide-eyed stare and a breathless "Whas at?" when you lather up again.

If you are one of those souls who can't quite get going until after the second cup of coffee you may not enjoy these post reville games of "20 questions." And how many different ways can you explain those dribbles of blood on your chin.

If the questions aren't enough the second part of the little one's vocabulary usually is a demand. His first full sentence may well be: "I want that!" again with a gesturing hand that may indicate any number of things, or nothing at all he could concievably want.

The "Whas at?" and the "I wants" may alternate so fast you can't remember whether you're explaining something or fending off his latest demand.

Father may think it is tough enough to stand the brunt of these elementary conversations during his limited time at home but mother gets it full time.

And those wondrous moments of relief, nap time or bedtime, don't come as easily anymore because now this talking, reasoning little creature must be given the opportunity to express his desires on such matters. It's a lucky mother who can get a yes to a question like, "Do you want to go to bed?"

Positive answers are slow in developing in the newly talking tyke, but "no" comes early and increases in frequency. It is usually about this time that parents find themselves using the same word more frequently in their dealings with their offspring.

Which makes you wonder, who is teaching the language to whom?

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is the time to be thinking of Christmas shopping, income taxes and vacations.

Absurd, you say. But it isn't if you count your dollars and your comfort.

The person who does his Christmas shopping now instead of in December will avoid crowds in the stores, won't have to worry about catalog-ordered goods arriving late and well might avoid higher prices, too.

This is just one of the techniques used by a minority of Americans who plan ahead, reducing in the process the surprises and tensions of last-minute moves but easing the strain on pulse and pocketbook.

Right now some stores are selling golf clubs at reduced prices. Same for summer clothing and other seasonal goods.

In many stores you can obtain low prices on appliances and television sets because of model changeovers. But try getting the same prices next January when the football bowl games and festivals are being shown.

A season for vacations? Certainly. Who says the season ends on Labor Day? Certainly not nature, whose equinox isn't reached until Sept. 23.

Many vacation areas drop their prices sharply immediately after Labor Day, which means that parents whose children are grown and parents whose kids aren't of school age can enjoy themselves peacefully and parsimoniously.

And taxes? The way to reduce taxes is to increase deductions. And the way to raise deductions is by taking losses on investments or incurring added expenses, preferably through planned investments.

Millions of stockholders wait until December to review their portfolios and cut out the dried husks of stocks that never bloomed. Their intention is to reduce their April 15 tax bill.

But, in waiting until the final few days or weeks to get rid of stocks that have had a bad time of it and which aren't likely to rise for a while, they are almost assuring themselves of even larger losses than they need to take.

Instead of waiting, why not determine which stocks show little prospect of rising from their depressed level and sell now? Wait until December and the selling pressure from people with similar motives might push the price down even more. It generally happens.

And one other suggestion: Why wait until Jan. 1 to make your New Year's resolutions? Resolve now to plan ahead. Pluck the plums that go to the man who lives by a different calendar.

You're Telling Me!

Back in Grandpa's time when most men still wore some sort of headgear the year around this day in mid-September was known generally as Felt Hat Day.

That means your straw hat which had done such yeoman duty throughout summer's swelter was not passe, out-of-date, kaput, persona non grata and not be worn any longer.

Almost to a man male Americans switched back to wearing derbies or felt or cloth fedoras or, at high-falutin' affairs, even toppers.

It was also the custom for baseball fans at the conclusion of the game on Labor Day to doff their battered sennit sailors or beatup panamas and sail them onto the now empty diamond.

That stunt was sort of fun — though, in a way, it was a sad parting with an old — but now useless — friend.

Probably the most popular of straw hats in days of yore were the sennit sailors even though they were as unyielding as a piece of cold, burnt toast.

Dunmore Road residents were up in arms about the faulty sanitary sewer system that forced filth and foul water into residents' basements and onto their front lawns with every heavy downpour.

The same downpour that flooded Circleville citizens' lawns was a boost to the filling of the New Memorial Lake. The water level was expected to stand somewhere around 18 feet after the two inches of rainfall.

Local county jail inmates had to share their quarters with 17 prisoners from Ross County. The shift was the result of a damaging fire that hit a church located near the county jail in Chillicothe, and causing some damage to the jail building.

Pickaway County residents served by the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. were informed on a one-third rate cut to allow for service limitations due to the company's labor dispute.

Beginning Oct. 1, it became legal for motorists to drive 60 miles an hour during daylight hours on highways outside cities. This action by the state legislature replaced the previous 50 mph speed limit that had been in effect.

"Wait for my husband!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PROMINENT attorney Irving Engel submits the following: There was a hotly contested law suit in Vermont in which the result depended largely on the credibility of a local young woman. The oldest native in the town was called as a witness. After he had been sworn, the following colloquy took place between him and the attorney for the plaintiff:

Q. Do you know Miss Mary Jones, who has testified in this case?

A. Yes; I have known her all her life.

Q. Tell the court and the jury, what is her reputation for truth and veracity?

A. As for truth, it is all right; she won't tell a lie. But as for veracity, I don't know; some say she do and some say she don't.

A learned Biblical scholar estimates that Job must have been the youngest blasphemer in history, for does not the Bible disclose that he cursed the hour he was born?

An Indian chief stamped into court demanding an immediate divorce from his beautiful squaw, Shimmering Water.

"But, Chief," demurred the judge. "Shimmering Water's won the state beauty contest three years running! How can you bear the thought of shedding a glorious mate like that?"

Explained the chief: "When me plant corn, me get corn. When me plant barley, me get barley. But when me plant Indian and me get paleface, me want divorce!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Almost every year in the spring a small patch of hair about the size of a half dollar falls out of my head. Could this be a vitamin deficiency or could it be caused by improper diet?

Miss H. M., Ala.

Dear Miss M.: The condition you describe is known as Alopecia (loss of hair) Areata. Almost always a fine gentle fuzz appears after a few weeks and before long the hair grows back normally.

The fact that it seems to occur only in the spring strikes me as being purely coincidental. I doubt that a vitamin deficiency can be the cause, assuming you are eating a normal diet.

Skin infection, especially caused by a fungus, emotional stress and sometimes even thyroid deficiences may be causative factors. When people are given the reassurance that such localized baldness rarely extends and rarely is permanent, it tides them over until that strange welcome fuzz appears.

Why does a blow to the solar plexus knock a person out? I was hit by a basket ball in a high school game and thought I was done for.

T. W. S., N. Y.

Dear Tim: Anyone who has boxed or engaged in contact sport appreciates the miserable sensation you describe.

The solar plexus is the spot where a large collection of nerves congregate just beneath the breast bone. A blow there may also knock out the breath by hitting the diaphragm that separates the abdomen from the chest.

I have always wondered how boxers can take such severe body blows and still survive. It is a testimonial to their excellent condition and to the protective muscles that they develop.

In order to be sure that no serious damage occurs in active sports, good protective equipment must always be used.

Have you ever heard the term Commando Operation? What could it possibly mean?

Mr. S. L., Mich.

Dear Mr. L.: I don't know how the term came to be applied to surgery but such an operation does exist. In essence it refers to a very radical and removal of an extensive cancer of the neck.

This daring surgical technique is responsible for saving many lives that might otherwise have been lost. Such surgical procedures on the neck are how performed with transplants of tissue to make speech and swallowing again possible.

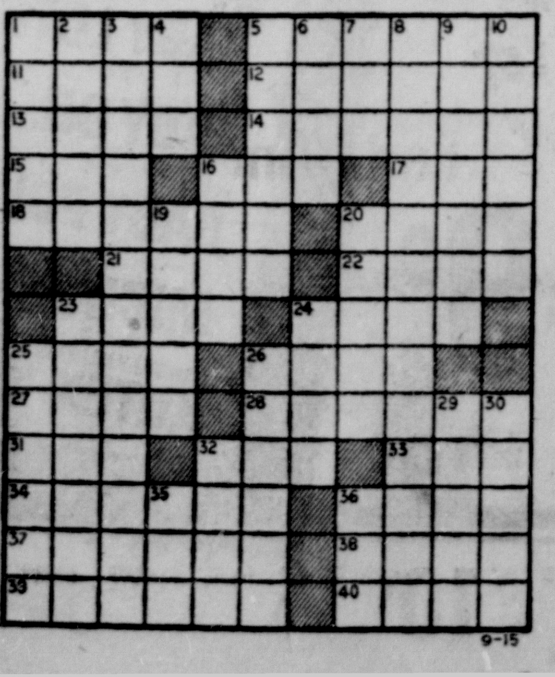
Yesterday's Answer



According To Boyle

By D. M. KREISHER (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — For those parents whose infant is just starting to mumble those first precious words, a warning: Don't encourage him too much.

For every time you say to each other, "Oh, how cute it will be when Julius can talk' you'll probably wish later for a return to those days of goo and da-da.

Reason enough is the fact that one of the first things a child learns to say is: "What's that?" This, or some reasonable facsimile usually is accompanied by a vague wave of the hand or insistant point of a finger toward some animate or inanimate object just within sigh.

From first awakening to final "night-night," it comes like a scratched record: "Whas at? Whas at?" taking in everything in the house, at least twice and most of the things visible out the window. It also covers most major and many minor sounds that resound into his tiny world.

His curiosity is boundless, but his memory is short.

It's a bit unnerving to have this chip off the old block on whom you lavished so much attention only last night greet you on awakening with a pointing finger jabbing and a surprised "Whas at?"

And your long, patient explanation of what you're doing covering your face with cream and slashing yourself with a razor will be rewarded the next morning with a wide-eyed stare and a breathless "Whas at?" when you lather up again.

If you are one of those souls who can't quite get going until after the second cup of coffee you may not enjoy these post reville games of "20 questions." And how many different ways can you explain those dribbles of blood on your chin.

If the questions aren't enough the second part of the little one's vocabulary usually is a demand. His first full sentence may well be: "I want that!" again with a gesturing hand that may indicate any number of things, or nothing at all he could concievably want.

The "Whas at?" and the "I wants" may alternate so fast you can't remember whether you're explaining something or fending off his latest demand.

Father may think it is tough enough to stand the brunt of these elementary conversations during his limited time at home but mother gets it full time.

And those wondrous moments of relief, nap time or bedtime, don't come as easily anymore because now this talking, reasoning little creature must be given the opportunity to express his desires on such matters. It's a lucky mother who can get a yes to a question like, "Do you want to go to bed?"

Positive answers are slow in developing in the newly talking tyke, but "no" comes early and increases in frequency. It is usually about this time that parents find themselves using the same word more frequently in their dealings with their offspring.

Which makes you wonder, who is teaching the language to whom?

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is the time to be thinking of Christmas shopping, income taxes and vacations.

Absurd, you say. But it isn't if you count your dollars and your comfort.

The person who does his Christmas shopping now instead of in December will avoid crowds in the stores, won't have to worry about catalog-ordered goods arriving late and well might avoid higher prices, too.

This is just one of the techniques used by a minority of Americans who plan ahead, reducing in the process the surprises and tensions of last-minute moves but easing the strain on pulse and pocketbook.

Right now some stores are selling golf clubs at reduced prices. Same for summer clothing and other seasonal goods.

In many stores you can obtain low prices on appliances and television sets because of model changeovers. But try getting the same prices next January when the football bowl games and festivals are being shown.

A season for vacations? Certainly. Who says the season ends on Labor Day? Certainly not nature, whose equinox isn't reached until Sept. 23.

Many vacation areas drop their prices sharply immediately after Labor Day, which means that parents whose children are grown and parents whose kids aren't of school age can enjoy themselves peacefully and parsimoniously.

And taxes? The way to reduce taxes is to increase deductions. And the way to raise deductions is by taking losses on investments or incurring added expenses, preferably through planned investments.

Millions of stockholders wait until December to review their portfolios and cut out the dried husks of stocks that never bloomed. Their intention is to reduce their April 15 tax bill.

But, in waiting until the final few days or weeks to get rid of stocks that have had a bad time of it and which aren't likely to rise for a while, they are almost assuring themselves of even larger losses than they need to take.

Instead of waiting, why not determine which stocks show little prospect of rising from their depressed level and sell now? Wait until December and the selling pressure from people with similar motives might push the price down even more. It generally happens.

And one other suggestion: Why wait until Jan. 1 to make your New Year's resolutions? Resolve now to plan ahead. Pluck the plums that go to the man who lives by a different calendar.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 15, the 258th day of 1971. There are 107 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, Konrad Adenauer became the first chancellor of West Germany.

On this date:

In 1777, the Polish aristocrat Count Casimir Pulaski was commissioned a major general in the American Revolutionary Army.

In 1789, the U.S. Department of Foreign Affairs changed its name to the Department of State.

In 1914, during World War I, German New Guinea and the Bismarck Archipelago surrendered to the British.

In 1938, Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew to Germany to try to mediate a German-Czechoslovak dispute.

In 1942, German armies attacked the Soviet city of Stalingrad.

In 1959, Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Washington to begin a 13-day U.S. visit.

You're Telling Me!

Back in Grandpa's time when most men still wore some sort of headgear the year around this day in mid-September was known generally as Felt Hat Day.

That means your straw hat which had done such yeoman duty throughout summer's swelter was not passe, out-of-date, kaput, persona non grata and not be worn any longer.

Almost to a man male Americans switched back to wearing derbies or felt or cloth fedoras or, at high-falutin' affairs, even toppers.

It was also the custom for baseball fans at the conclusion of the game on Labor Day to doff their battered sennit sailors or beatup panamas and sail them onto the now empty diamond.

That stunt was sort of fun — though, in a way, it was a sad parting with an old — but now useless — friend.

Probably the most popular of straw hats in days of yore were the sennit sailors even though they were as unyielding as a piece of cold, burnt toast.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tuesday nights on the television networks promises to be a hotly contested battleground. NBC and CBS have moved some heavy entertainment artillery against ABC's most popular lineup of last season.

Will "Marcus Welby, M.D.," that gentle general practitioner, lost some of his faithful patients to "Cannon," CBS's tough private eye? And more to NBC's woman-oriented "Funny Side" with its light-hearted musical comedy look at everybody's basic problems?

Probably. And it is just as likely that NBC's top cop, "Ironside," will be more of a threat to the "Mod Squad" kids than any bad guys.

ABC's "Movie of the Week," once in charge of its time period, has acqured some formidable competition with the arrival on Tuesday nights of CBS' popular "Hawaii Five-O," and another action-adventure series, "Sarge," launched by NBC.

Among the new series, "Cannon" seems to be the greatest threat. It is a slick, fast-moving show reminiscent of those old Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler books. Willam Conrad's character, Frank Cannon, is gravel voiced and gimlet-eyed and takes a lot of punishment. He is fat and 50. The premiere started with a robbery massacre and through about half the show, our hero was dragging around with a bullet thorugh the knee, the hunter pursued by the hunted. It was a highly charged hour.

NBC, scheming to pull the early evening "Ironside" audience along to its new "Sarge" series, turned out what was billed as two shows but which played as one and combined the two leading characters. Sarge, the policeman turned priest, joined Ironside in an investigation of the killing of three priests.

The plot unfortunately contained only about enough action to pull through one hour not two. The result was that neither series took off for a fast start on the new season.

George Kennedy, whose character was introduced in a two-hour pilot film last season, plays the clerical title role in "Sarge."

NBC's "Funny Side" had its official premiere Tuesday, following something billed as a preview last Sunday. This time the general subject was health, and it ranged in sketch form treatments on health food and hypochondria to hospital food and braces on teeth. The five couples who participate seemed to have better comedy material and to handle it with greater ease. The hour still dealt largely in cliches, but some were buried under the players' enthusiasm.

Busing Protest Closes Fisher Body Factory

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Chanting "we will not be bused" and "power to the people," opponents of school busing for integration shut down the General Motors' Fisher Body plant in Pontiac Tuesday.

Several hundred pickets, many of them representing the antibusing National Action Group—NAG—paraded in front of plant gates as the 4,100-worker facility was due to open.

Many workers congregated on sidewalks across the street from the plant but few entered.

The demonstration had been called by NAG to show its "clout" in a running battle to undo court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance in schools in this suburban Detroit city of 85,000.

Common Market Countries Call For Devalued Dollar

BRUSSELS (AP) — Closing their ranks for negotiations with the United States, the six Common Market countries have agreed on a uniform monetary policy including a call for Washington to devalue the dollar.

The stand is expected to have considerable impact on Wednesday's meeting in London of the group of 10 leading industrial nations and the Sept. 27 meeting in Washington of the 118-member International Monetary Fund. The United States will take part in both conferences dealing with President Nixon's new economic policies.

Differences between France and West Germany had blocked previous attempts by the Common Market finance ministers to agree on a uniform policy.

The ministers' communique Monday night represented a compromise. The West German economics and finance minister, Karl Schiller, rejected an initial draft on grounds it was too elaborate and should be devoid of references to the dollar.

But the ministers made clear their intention regarding dollar devaluation when they called for a realignment of major world currencies, "including the dollar."

French satisfaction at the meeting's outcome was expressed by its finance minister, Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who said: "It does not befit a delegation to express its particular satisfaction by affirming that its thesis has won. But now it has become a community viewpoint."

The Common Market is composed of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

In Washington, President Nixon's deputy press secretary, Gerald L. Warren, had no comment on the action. He said Treasury Secretary John B. Connally "is going over there and I am sure he will adequately describe the administration's view."

The six-point package adopted by the ministers included proposals from the Common Market Commission to replace the dollar as the basic currency of world exchange linked with special drawing rights to the International Monetary Fund.

REA Output Doubling, Chief Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rural Americans are doubling their use of electricity every six to seven years, the head of the federal Rural Electrification Administration said today.

David Hamil attributed the accelerated growth to new consumers moving into rural areas and the use of modern farming equipment and domestic appliances which require more electricity.

The report came during the closing day of a regional meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association which began in Columbus Sunday.

Directors and managers of 89 REA-financed rural electric systems serving $.7 million persons in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and West Virginia participated in the meeting.

Hamil said rural residential consumers used an average of 687 kilowatt hours monthly in 1970—nearly twice the monthly use in 1960. Last year, he said, the nation's rural electric systems required 82 billion killowatt hours to meet demands, compared to 31 billion a decade ago.

Hamil was named to head the administration by President Nixon in 1969. He served in the same capacity under President Eisenhower.

Pastor Carl Zehner Unites Miss Dixon, Mr. Smalley

MRS. STEPHEN ZEE SMALLEY

Miss Dorcas Lynn Dixon and Mr. Stephen Zee Smalley were united in marriage at Trinity Lutheran Church 7:30 p.m. Aug. 20.

Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring service for the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Harvey Dixon, Salisbury, Md., and the son of Mrs. Harriet Smalley and the late Joseph Smalley, Route 4.

The altar was draped with floral arrangements of green gladiolus and white daisies decorated the chancel area.

A musical prelude was presented by organist Mrs. Edith Downing and Mr. Robert Bensonhaver who sang, "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of taffeta with softly gathered overskirt of alencon lace. The high rise ruffled neckline was of matching lace that formed the long sleeves which ended with a ruffle. Satin encircled the empire waistline, accented with a Dior bow. Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a forward cap of bridal satin loops and silk flowers. Her train was softly gathered at the shoulders and extended into chapel length. It was bordered with matching scalloped lace. The bride carried a cascade of yellow roses, white daisies, baby's breath and English ivy. The bride carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and a sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Gloria Dixon, sister of the bride, was honor attendant. She was attired in an empire gown of mint green dotted swiss with venice lace trim. Her sleeves were short full puffed. She carried a natural fireside basket filled with white daisies and pale yellow carnations and ivy. The head piece was a dior bow with short illusion veil.

The bridesmaid was Miss Daylene Smalley, sister of the groom. Her dress and flowers were identical to the maid of honor.

Miss Lois Dixon, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. Her dress was styled like the honor attendant also, only in maize. Her flowers were identical.

Mr. James Deal, Ashville, was the best man. Mr. Bob Stant, brother-in-law of the groom and Larry Betts, both of Circleville, were the ushers.

The bride's mother wore a pink A-line organza dress with re-embroidered white flowers on the hemline and the long sleeves. Her accessories were white and her flowers a corsage of white daisies.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pale pink crepe A-line dress with lavender highlights. The neckline was tirmmed with rhinestones. Her accessories were of pink and white and her corsage of white daisies.

A reception followed the wedding at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. The colors of green and maize were carried out. The bridal table was decorated with a floral piece and candles.

Hostesses were Miss Jean Mason and Miss Jeraldine Moore. Miss September Young was at the guest book.

The newlyweds honeymooned at scenic points in northern Ohio.

For her going away costume the bride wore a lime green crepe dress styled with long bishop sleeves. The high neckline and the waist were trimmed with sequins. Her corsage was of yellow roses from her bridal flowers. Her accessories were black.

The couple resides at Route 1, Circleville. The new Mrs. Smalley is a graduate of Wicomico Senior High School, Salisbury, Md., and is employed by General Electric. Mr. Smalley is a graduate of Logan Elm High School and Franklin University. He is employed by the Second National Bank.

Out-of-town guests were from Salisbury and Fruitland, Md.; Zanesville, Columbus, Akron, Chillicothe and Ashville.

Monrovian Garden Club Holds Fall Flower Show

The members of the Monrovian Garden Club met in the Five Points United Methodist Church basement Monday evening for their September meeting and Flower Show, "Harvest Beauty."

The president, Mrs. Jce Sheets, presided over the business meeting, which opened with devotions by Mrs. Fran Follrod. She used the 23rd Psalm followed by favorite quotes and an old fashioned prayer. The roll call was answered by 23 members telling whether they brought a specimen or an arrangement to the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Fleming, secretary, read the report of the last meeting and Mrs. Ruth O'Day, treasurer, gave the financial report. A "thank you" note was read from Mrs. Donald Horney for flowers and cards she received while she was in the hospital and a note of appreciation for the contribution to the Wakeena Fund.

Mrs. Ann Thomas, chairman of the auditing committee, gave a splendid report and complimented our treasurer for a job well done.

It was announced that the schedule for the flower show at the Pumpkin Show was ready and we are to enter flowers on Wednesday. The Ways and Means Committee are to make plans for the window display at the Pumpkin Show.

Plans were completed for the next Therapy Program at Orient State School on Sept. 28 and several members volunteered to help.

Mrs. Loring Stoer gave a very interesting report of the State Convention which she attended and announced that the club had placed first in the Radio Division.

Plans were made to attend Gardeners' Day Out at the Historical Center, Ohio State Fairgrounds. Mrs. Roberta Hedges was judge of the Flower Show, "Harvest Beauty" and gave some interesting remarks about the show.

Amish People Described At Monday Club Meeting

Mrs. Mary Kay May presented a paper on the several types of mennonites, their appearance, homes and methods of farming at the Sept. 13 meeting of the Monday Club in the Lutheran Parish House.

Mrs. May reported the Amish arrived in America in the 1700's and settled in southeastern Pennslyvania. Today Lancaster County, Pa., is the Amish capital of the world. In Ohio, settlements are found near Wooster, Millersburg and Sugar Creek.

One of the major principles of the Amish is to remain separate from the world. They hold worship services in the home.

An Amish practice of applying christianity to the practical affairs of everyday life is characteristic of the brotherhood among them.

The Amish believe the ungraded one-room school offers a superior form of education for its members. Because their children do not attend high school, the Amish have been in constant conflict with education officials over compulsory school laws.

The Amish wedding season is from early fall until late winter. They believe establishment of a new family unit is better after the harvest. No weddings are held during leap year.

The Amish kitchen is the center of the home. The parlor is reserved for special occasions and is rarely used.

Because the Amish believe they are a "chosen people," death is a doorway to salvation for those who remain true to the faith. The Amish funeral is the essence of simplicity with no flowers or decorated headstone.

The separation from the world demands the Amish the avoidance of social, political and religious intercourse with modern America. Economic communication is allowed.

The older order Amish community in America may be the last refuge of German peasantry according to Mrs. May.

She summed up the Amish thinking with the statement: "A tractor gets the work done more quickly, but horses and love of hard work keep us nearer to God."

Scioto Chapel Society Meets At Robtown

Mrs. Frank Noggle, Mrs. Cecil Ward and Mrs. Mabel Isham hosted the meeting of the Women's Society of Scioto Chapel United Methodist Church held in the Robtown Parish Hall.

For devotions Mrs. Ward read Scripture from the 15th chapter of John, followed with a prayer.

The business meeting was directed by Mrs. Robert Drummond, president.

Reports were given and correspondence was read, including a thank-you card from Mrs. Henry Hansen.

A donation was made to the World Service Fund. Mrs. Drummond explained the apportionment would go for Missions and Evangelism in the United States and other countries.

Birthday donations were received from Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Harold Fee, Mrs. Isham and Mrs. Drummond.

Note was made that a new sweeper had been purchased by the Society for the church. New bookcases for the parsonage will also be purchased.

Members will serve lunch at the Jay Welsh sale. The Blanche Hott sale for Sept. 17 was also discussed.

A rummage sale will be held at the parish hall Oct. 7 and 8. Plans are being made for the annual Turkey Supper to be held Oct. 30.

At the close of the meeting a social hour followed, with members relating their "most embarrassing moment."

Refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostesses in charge. Doorprize winners were Mrs. Earl Hott, Mrs. Wendell Neff, Mrs. Clo Philo and Mrs. Drummond.

The Oct. 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Huston, Route 3.

Five Points WCTU Meets At Church

Mrs. Arthur Winfough and Mrs. Edna McPherson were hosts to the members of the Five Points WCTU when they met Thursday afternoon in the Methodist Church basement for their September meeting.

The president, Mrs. Francis Furniss opened the meeting using as her theme, "Into All the World." The group sang, "What the World Needs Is Jesus" and Mrs. McPherson read scripture from Romans 1:16; 15: 14-29 followed by meditations and prayer. Miss Laura Long, secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Mrs. Herman Porter gave the financial report and each member present payed their Rock of Ages dues. Plans were discussed concerning the County Convention to be held at Salem Church on Sept. 24 with Mrs. Nona Hankins, county WCTU president in charge.

Government Change Studied At Conneaut

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A proposal to change the present mayor-council form of government here to a city manager and council system was defeated Tuesday by more than a 2-1 count.

The issue drew more than 53 per cent of te city's total number of registered voter to the polls, with 2,782 voting against the issue and 1,318 for it.

Jackson Offers 3-Point Plan For Economy

CINCINNATI (AP) — U.S. Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington has proposed a three-point program for pepping up the nation's economy.

Jackson, who said he is considering becoming an active candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1972, stated on Tuesday that he supports a "five per cent tax cut across the board, on a temporary basis, and postponement of the Social Security tax increase scheduled for Jan. 1.

The third step would be to "stimulate public works effort." He said the jumber of public service jobs around the country needs to be doubled to about 500,000 as long as high unemployment exists.

"Public services, from school systems to transportation systems, are overloaded and undernourished," he continued. "Only the fruits of strong and sustained growth will give us the means to reverse this trend."

Jackson spoke at a meeting of the National Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association. Afterward he attended a rally here with Democratic officials from Hamilton, Butler, Clermont, Warren and Montgomery counties.

In his speech Jackson urged that the wage-price freeze be followed with a permanent wage-price stabilization board. He said such a board should seek voluntary restraint by "Big business and big labor" but it should have the power, if needed, to impose mandatory wage and price controls based on productivity.

Jackson said his cross-country speaking tour is a "political reconnaissance mission" aimed at gauging his chances for the Presidential nomination. He said he will decide sometime next month whether to become an active candidate.

Amish People Described At Monday Club Meeting

Mrs. Mary Kay May presented a paper on the several types of mennonites, their appearance, homes and methods of farming at the Sept. 13 meeting of the Monday Club in the Lutheran Parish House.

Mrs. May reported the Amish arrived in America in the 1700's and settled in southeastern Pennslyvania. Today Lancaster County, Pa., is the Amish capital of the world. In Ohio, settlements are found near Wooster, Millersburg and Sugar Creek.

One of the major principles of the Amish is to remain separate from the world. They hold worship services in the home.

An Amish practice of applying christianity to the practical affairs of everyday life is characteristic of the brotherhood among them.

The Amish believe the ungraded one-room school offers a superior form of education for its members. Because their children do not attend high school, the Amish have been in constant conflict with education officials over compulsory school laws.

The Amish wedding season is from early fall until late winter. They believe establishment of a new family unit is better after the harvest. No weddings are held during leap year.

The Amish kitchen is the center of the home. The parlor is reserved for special occasions and is rarely used.

Because the Amish believe they are a "chosen people," death is a doorway to salvation for those who remain true to the faith. The Amish funeral is the essence of simplicity with no flowers or decorated headstone.

The separation from the world demands the Amish the avoidance of social, political and religious intercourse with modern America. Economic communication is allowed.

The older order Amish community in America may be the last refuge of German peasantry according to Mrs. May.

She summed up the Amish thinking with the statement: "A tractor gets the work done more quickly, but horses and love of hard work keep us nearer to God."

Scioto Chapel Society Meets At Robtown

Mrs. Frank Noggle, Mrs. Cecil Ward and Mrs. Mabel Isham hosted the meeting of the Women's Society of Scioto Chapel United Methodist Church held in the Robtown Parish Hall.

For devotions Mrs. Ward read Scripture from the 15th chapter of John, followed with a prayer.

The business meeting was directed by Mrs. Robert Drummond, president.

Reports were given and correspondence was read, including a thank-you card from Mrs. Henry Hansen.

A donation was made to the World Service Fund. Mrs. Drummond explained the apportionment would go for Missions and Evangelism in the United States and other countries.

Birthday donations were received from Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Harold Fee, Mrs. Isham and Mrs. Drummond.

Note was made that a new sweeper had been purchased by the Society for the church. New bookcases for the parsonage will also be purchased.

Members will serve lunch at the Jay Welsh sale. The Blanche Hott sale for Sept. 17 was also discussed.

A rummage sale will be held at the parish hall Oct. 7 and 8. Plans are being made for the annual Turkey Supper to be held Oct. 30.

At the close of the meeting a social hour followed, with members relating their "most embarrassing moment."

Refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostesses in charge. Doorprize winners were Mrs. Earl Hott, Mrs. Wendell Neff, Mrs. Clo Philo and Mrs. Drummond.

The Oct. 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Huston, Route 3.

Five Points WCTU Meets At Church

Mrs. Arthur Winfough and Mrs. Edna McPherson were hosts to the members of the Five Points WCTU when they met Thursday afternoon in the Methodist Church basement for their September meeting.

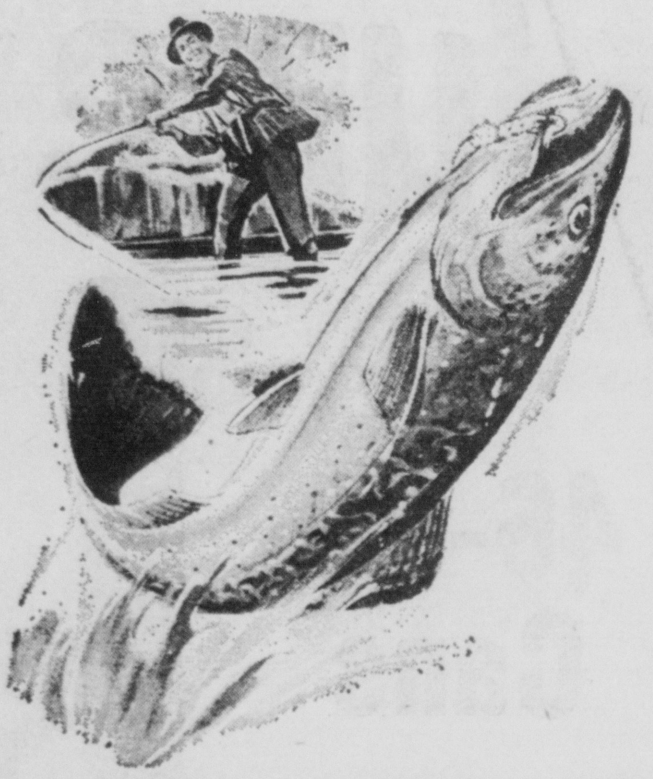
FRESH ROCKY MOUNTAIN Rainbow Trout



Another big shipment of "STRICTLY FRESH — NEVER BEEN FROZEN" Rainbow Trout rushed to Big Bear from Buhl, Idaho. The meaty fighters have lived in the cool fresh streams fed by the clean, clear, uncontaminated waters flowing from the deep natural springs in the Snake River Canyon. Immediately after being caught and cleaned, they are rushed to Big Bear for our discriminating customers in new modern refrigerated shipping containers. Buy some for this week — buy some to freeze for your eating pleasure until our next sale.

ELEGANT OVEN STEW

- 2 Pounds Beef Round Steak, Cut Into 1-inch Cubes
- 2 Cups Sliced Carrots
- 1 Cup Sliced Celery
- 1 Can (5 ounces) Water Chestnuts, Drained and Sliced
- 1 Can (6 ounces) Sliced Mushrooms, Drained
- 3 Tablespoons Flour
- 1 Tablespoon Sugar
- 2 Medium Onions, Sliced
- 1 Tablespoon Salt
- 1 Can (16 ounces) Elna Tomatoes
- 1 Cup Red Burgundy

Mix meat, carrots, celery, onions, water chestnuts and mushrooms in Dutch oven. Mix flour, sugar and salt; stir into meat mixture. Stir in tomatoes and wine. Cover tightly; cook in 325 degrees oven or on top of range 4 hours. Makes 6 servings.

SUBSTITUTION

For Burgundy; 1 cup water and 1 teaspoon instant beef bouillon.

Boost Registration Week Proclaimed For Counties

The six-day period starting September 17 and concluding with the closing of voter registration on September 22 has been proclaimed Boost Registration Week throughout Ohio's 53 county-wide and 7 partial registration counties by Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Pickaway County Board of Election officials will be putting the title to work Monday, remaining open for late registrants from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Wednesday.

Anyone wishing to vote must be registered with the county board by the Wednesday deadline. Persons affected most by the registration requirement are initial registrants in the 18-20 age group, those who have changed their address, persons who have changed names, either by marriage, divorce or other legal means and those persons who are registered, but who have not voted in the past two years.

Brown, also the state's chief election officer, in making the announcement Tuesday, pointed out that Boost Registration Week was created to coincide with the beginning of Constitution Week, which starts on Constitution Day, Sepember 17.

3rd Station Attendant Is Slain

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — The operators of several service stations along Interstate 75 near here plan to curtail overnight business because of the slaying of a third attendant in five months.

Carl Walt, 20, of nearby Walton was found shot to death Tuesday morning in a station at the Walton-Vernoa interchange of I-75. He had been shot in the head and in the back, according to Kentucky State Police who said they were working under the theory that Walt was killed during a robbery.

Dale Messmer, who manages a station at an interchange of I-75 near here, said he was going to close up overnight "because I can't afford the responsibility of staying open."

Messmer was one of several operators who were upset about the slaying,the third in the last five months along I-75.

Harold Davis, 26, was kidnaped June 30 from the station he ran at the intersection of I-75 and Kentucky 338 and was found dead July 3 in Lebanon, Ohio.

On May 5, Rufus Day, 51, of Trenton, Ohio, was found dead in his tractor-trailer rig parked along I-75. Police said no money was found on him.

Police said Walt's wallet had been taken and that several desk drawers of the station had been opened.

No apprehensions have been made in any of the three cases.

McGovern Rescued From Viets

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern was rescued by U.S. military police and Marines Tuesday from a hail of rocks an firebombs hurled against a church where he was meeting with South Vietnamese students and dissidents.

McGovern, a leading antiwar critic, was trapped in the Roman Catholic church with several associates for about half an hour. He emerged shaken but unhurt under the protection of the U.S. troops summoned to the scene.

The identity of the rock and fire-bomb throwers was not immediately established. One witness described them as young South Vietnamese motorbike riders often called "cowboys."

The South Dakota Democrat is on a three-day visit to South Vietnam. He went to the church to talk with South Vietnamese about political prisoners and alleged abuses in Vietnamese prisons.

The senator returned to his downtown hotel under an armed escort.

Whealon Speaks On Attica Riot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The newly-named warden of the Southern Ohio Penitentiary says the prison rioting and killings at Attica, N.Y., underscore the extremes that can occur in a prison setting.

W. J. Whealon, associate superintendent at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute since 1968, made the comment Monday as he was introduced at a news conference in the cabinet room of Gov. John Gilligan.

Bennett Cooper, commissioner of the Ohio Division of Corrections, said he thought Whealon, a former parole officer, would bring a "different type of background" to the new penitentiary post.

Pickaway Grange

NEBRASKA GRANGE 64

The regular meeting of Nebraska Grange 64 Sept. 7 was called to order by the worthy master Ray Noecker.

Edward Crites, youth chairman, reported on activities of the youth grange and Mrs. Joseph Peters, women's activities chairman, gave reports from the fair, blood canteen and Pamona meeting.

This being election night, the following were elected for the coming year: Ray Noecker, master; Chester Noecker, overseer; Joseph Peters, lecturer; Edward Crites, steward; Roger Schneider, assistant steward; Hazel Peters, chaplain; Ray Plum, treasurer; Anna Hedges, secretary; Arthur Sark, gatekeeper; Gladys Hines, Ceres; Florence Whorton, Pamona; Helen Beck, Flora; Thelma Hines, lady assistant steward; Joseph Peters, executive committee.

Communications were read in regard to place and date for the state grange degree and the bus to the National Convention Nov. 3. Letters of appreciation were read from CROP, the Pickaway County Extension office for 4-H Club support. At the next meeting a gold sheaf and silver certificates will be awarded. The committee for this meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. Chester Noecker, Ray Noecker, Ray Plum, Florence Wharton and Nelle Oesterle.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hay and the Melvin Archer family.

YOUTH GRANGE

The Pickaway County Youth Grange organization held their monthly meeting at the home of Jan Roberts in Ashville, with members from four granges present.

After the hostess opened the meeting with devotions, the president, Bonnie Bolender conducted the meeting. Plans were made to attend a youth hoedown in Fairfield County this weekend and then to attend a youth conference in Mason, Ohio, Sept. 25.

The youth will again have an installation team and will hold the first rehearsal on Sept. 27 at the Grange building on the fair grounds. The first installation will be at Pickerington on Oct. 4, and the local granges are planning a cumulative installation to be in mid-October.

At the next meeting, on Oct. 3, Mrs. Paul Dawson will serve as the hostess and at this time the plans for the fourth Pickaway County Youth Conference will be completed.

Debi Archer, the local princess candidate, will be given a dinner on Oct. 10, the time and place announced later. She will represent the county in the state finals to be held in Toledo next month.

After the business meeting Joan Dawson conducted the recreation using "School Days" as her theme.

Channelization Comes Under Heavy Attack

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Every year 250 miles of Ohio waterways are straightened, widened or deepened with machines.

The Department of Natural Resources is trying to decide now whether these alterations in the state's rivers and streams should be allowed to continue at their present rate.

Stream channelization, as the operation is called, has become a subject of heated dispute among conservationists, government officials and private citizens.

Supporters of channelization as a water management technique say it is essential to flood control and farmland drainage programs.

Opponents claim the practice is damaging the environment by altering the shape of stream beds and banks and changing flow patterns.

The result, they say, will be the loss of many valuable resources, including fish spawning areas and other wildlife habitats.

Natural Resources Director William B. Nye is considering a report on channelization in Ohio from the Ohio Water Commission and will get another report from a departmental task force next month.

The commission report is based on testimony taken in public hearings conducted by the commission last December along with oral and written testimony taken before and after the hearings.

The task force study, which is only about half complete now, will concentrate on one proposed channelization project in the Washington Court House area.

The project would involve deepening and widening three creeks. Streams in Madison, Fayette and Highland counties would be affected.

This project and others like it are sponsored by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, which is also conducting a re-evaluation of its chanelization policies.

But Art Bonar, watershed coordinator in the natural resources water management section, says the conservation service is responsible for only five miles of the 250 miles of channelization in Ohio.

The rest, Bonar said, is undertaken by counties or private individuals.

"I think we've found that channelization is definitely detrimental to fish and other wildlife," Bonar said. "What it comes down to is whose environment you're concerned with."

"If you channelize, you hurt the fish," Bonar added, "and if you don't you hamper drainage and flood control, and this can hurt everyone especially the farmer."

But Bonar said there has not been sufficient study of channelization results to determine how much environmental damage it causes.

No Residual Viet Force, Abrams Says

SAIGON (AP) — The Nixon administration apparently has shifted its thinking on maintaining a residual force of 20,000 to 50,000 men in Vietnam after the bulk of American combat troops withdraw.

Sources said statements attributed to Gen. Creighton W. Abrams that he does not envisage a residual force of U.S. troops in Vietnam indicated that the Nixon administration is thinking in terms of an advisory mission, rather than support for the Vietnamese troops, and over a perod of one to three years, for the U.S. forces that remain behind.

The general conception of a residual force has been 20,000 to 50,000 artillery, air logistics and some combat support troops for the security of the U.S. forces themselves, remaining for an indefinite period.

Sen. George S. McGovern, after a 45-minute meeting with Abrams today, quoted the American commander as saying: :"Our goal is a total termination of U.S. military operations and the development of a balanced South Vietnamese force capable of functioning without U.S. forces, either aerial or ground."

Abrams' comment, as reported by the South Dakota Democrat, was the nearest thng to a public statement by Abrams on the subject to date.

The use of the words "frog" and "toads" is often confusing. In general, frogs have smooth skins and toads warty skins.

Curry To Head Cincy Schools

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Robert P. Curry has been named acting superintendent of Cincinnati Public Schools, succeeding Dr. Paul A. Miller, who is resigning to accept a federal post in Washington.

Curry, now serving as associate superintendent, was given a new two-year contract Monday by the Cincinnati Board of Education at its weekly meeting. He will serve as acting superintendent until a replacement is found, and then will revert to his present position.

Curry said he does not intend to seek the superintendent's job on a permanent basis.

Boost Registration Week Proclaimed For Counties

The six-day period starting September 17 and concluding with the closing of voter registration on September 22 has been proclaimed Boost Registration Week throughout Ohio's 53 county-wide and 7 partial registration counties by Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Pickaway County Board of Election officials will be putting the title to work Monday, remaining open for late registrants from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Wednesday.

Anyone wishing to vote must be registered with the county board by the Wednesday deadline. Persons affected most by the registration requirement are initial registrants in the 18-20 age group, those who have changed their address, persons who have changed names, either by marriage, divorce or other legal means and those persons who are registered, but who have not voted in the past two years.

Brown, also the state's chief election officer, in making the announcement Tuesday, pointed out that Boost Registration Week was created to coincide with the beginning of Constitution Week, which starts on Constitution Day, Sepember 17.

Brezhnev's Meet With Tito Worries Party Members

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The man whose name is attached to the "doctrine of limited sovereignty" is embarking on a diplomatic pilgrimage which worries influential Communists outside the Soviet orbit.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, head of the Soviet Communist party, will meet in Belgrade soon with President Tito. One aim may be to apply to the maverick Yugoslav Communists the sort of pressure implied by the "Brezhnev doctrine" which insists that n Communist party can endanger the interests of the whole Communist community.

The idea that this may be on Brezhnev's mind-since Moscow purports to command the whole Communist community-raises the possibility of another explosion on the horizon of international communism, perhaps not in the immediate future, but when Brezhnev is ready.

However, Communists in Europe and Japan read it, they have been moved to warn the Kremlin rather directly that the day of total Soviet domination over other parties should be regarded as over for good.

East Europeans may get the feeling that the specter of Nikita S. Khrushchev, guffawing mightily at Brezhnev's problems and phobias, will be haunting the Belgrade meeting.

Brezhnev is, in fact, trying to undo what was set in motion when Khrushchev reversed years of Stalin enmity fo Tito's League of Communists and conceded that specific national conditions could influence development of a "Socialist' society. The reconciliation never was total, but from then on "national communism" had a better chance of survival.

Lately Brezhnev has taken a prominent part in shaping a Soviet policy aimed in Europe at countering what the Kremlin seems to regard as a Chinese threat of penetration. This Kremlin concern makes Yugoslavia, along with Romania, a prime target of Moscow policy.

Moscow suspects China of trying to link Yugoslavia and Romania to Albania in an anti-Soviet entente allied with Peking. That would give the small countries better leverage for resisting Soviet dictates.

Muskie Talk To Governors Hit By GOP As 'Political'

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Warming up for a campaign year, Republican governors have accused Democrats of fostering unseemly partisanship at the 63rd National Governors Conference.

For their part, the Republicans unanimously endorsed President Nixon's new economic policy and prepared to defend it today against a proposed Democratic resolution that complains of inequity and advocates restraints on profits along with wages and prices.

Since it would take a three-fourths conference to vote to approve the measure, the GOP governors seemed certain to succeed in blocking it.

"We simply deplore that the Democratic governors seek to use this bipartisan conference as a forum for what we believe is a narrow and partisan approach," said Gov. John A. Love of Colorado.

Love said partisanship was fueled, too, by the featured role of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine at Tuesday night's formal state dinner.

Muskie told the governors the killing of more than 40 convicts and hostages in a four-day uprising at New York's Attica prison "is more stark proof that something is terribly wrong in America ...

"The system has not failed—but some of us have failed the system," the senator told the black-tie banquet, "and both political parties and most recent administrations can claim some share of the blame."

Love questioned the propriety of according Muskie, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, the conference stage. "This should not be a forum for partisan politics," he said.

After Muskie's speech Love said "it wasn't a narrow partisan political speech" but that anything Muskie says from now until the 1972 election will have to be considered political.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Cooler weather is forecast to move into Ohio Thursday following passage of a cold front across the state today.

Temperatures Thursday will range from the mid 60s to mid 70s, compared with readings in the upper 70s and low 80s today.

Isolated showers and thundershowers were forecast in eastern Ohio this afternoon as the cold front crosses the state.

Lows last night ranged mostly in the 60s under clear skies, well above the normals for the date of 51 to 57.

Partly cloudy, cool weather is forecast for the weekend.

—FORECASTS—

OHIO — Variable cloudiness and cooler tonight and Thursday with chance of showers north Thursday. Lows tonight in the 50s. Highs Thursday from the mid 60s to mid 70s.

Ministers Hear AA Story

The Pickaway County Ministerial Association began its fall activities Monday morning with a meeting at Good Shepherd Church.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Orville Gray who spoke on behalf of the work of Alcoholics Anonymous. During Gray's 30-year career in the U.S. Army, he spent part of his time in volunteer work on behalf of persons in need of help due to the excessive use of alcohol. His keen insight into the problem and his deep personal concern for the individual makes Mr. Gray well qualified as he continues to serve those in need.

Following the most informative talk the pastors joined in a discussion on what they and the congregations can do to help the alcoholic. The first premise of AAs is that the individual must admit there is a problem — must realize and confess to himself that he can not combat this sickness on his own.

Once this all-important first step has been taken that individual is on the way to overcoming his problem. And there is help available. In addition to the council and assistance each pastor gladly offers there is the local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous which meets 8:30 p.m. Friday in Trinity Lutheran Church, E. Mound St.

Newly elected president for the Ministerial Association is the Reverend Mr. Donald Cummings, pastor of Tarlton United Methodist Church. Meetings are held the first Monday of each month at Good Shepherd Church, East Main St., 9:30 a.m. All pastors of the county are most cordially invited to participate in the large ministry of Pickaway County Ministerial Association.

Hector Alligator Returns To Old Home Under Dock

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — Hector, a grand old alligator, was trucked from his lakefront home to a spot 140 miles away two years ago when his human neighbors got leery of swimming with a 300-pound reptile.

Guess who's back.

Hector was on hand six years ago when Paul Trier built the first home on Lake LaGorce in this Gulf Coast community about 70 miles south of Tampa.

The Triers and Hector got along famously, but soon other homes began to dot the lake and the new residents grew wary of the thick-skinned pioneer.

So one day Hector found himself bundled in a Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission truck and on his way to Myakka State Park.

Recently, however, Trier said he heard a familiar bellow on the lake and went to investigate.

"There was Hector calling to us, just as he used to when we were late with his breakfast. He came swimming toward me, pushing a large wave under his chin.

"I'll swear he was as excited to see me as I was to see him," said Trier.

Trier is sure the old gator, estimated to be in his mid-60s, is the same old Hector.

The two worked out a breakfast ritual years ago. At first Trier coaxed him with dog food and then began feeding him marshmallows from a wooden spoon.

When Trier was late with the goodies, Hector voiced his displeasure with a most authoritative roar.

The same roar is heard now until Trier floats a dog food-smeared piece of bread out to the hungry reptile.

After wolfing down the soggy repast, the gator whips into his old snoozing nook beneath Trier's dock. He even swims in close for an occasional pat on the head.

Hector's return to the Sarasota County lake was something of an Everglades odyssey. He had to fight swamps, thickets and drainage most of the way.

And while the return was Herculean, his manners best be timid.

Donald Love, Sarasota County wildlife officer for the game commission, said Hector probably can stay "unless the complaints get pretty strenuous."

Then its off to Myakka again.

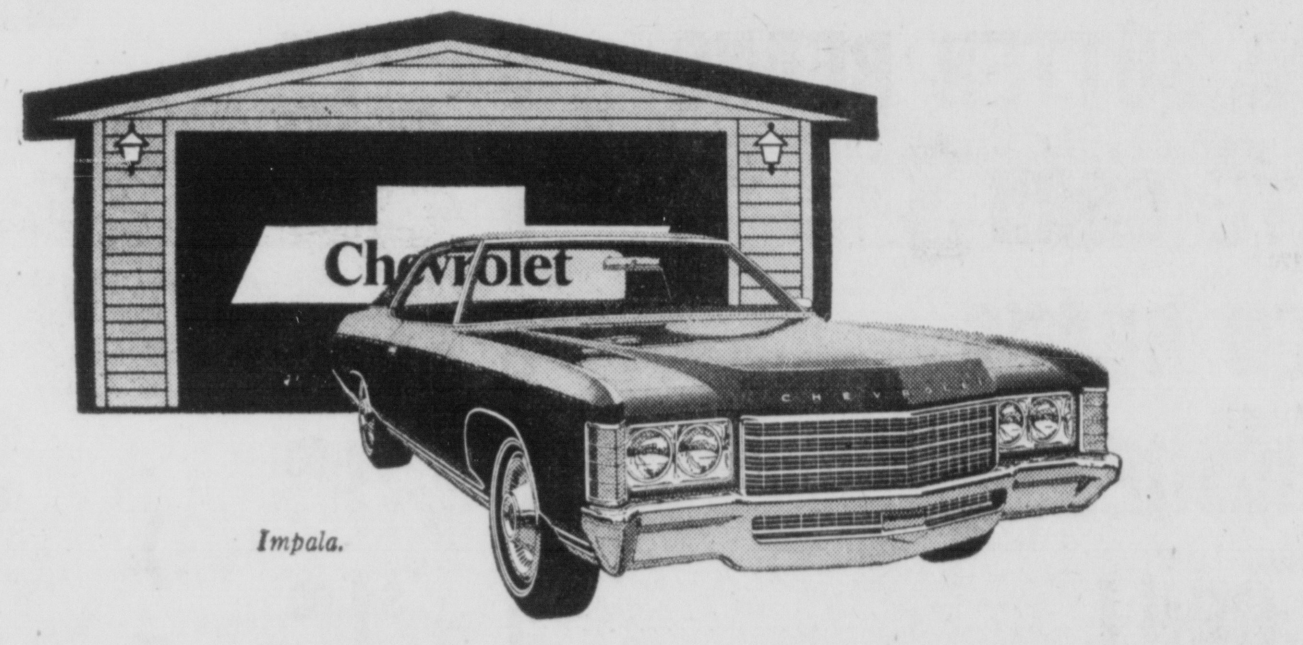
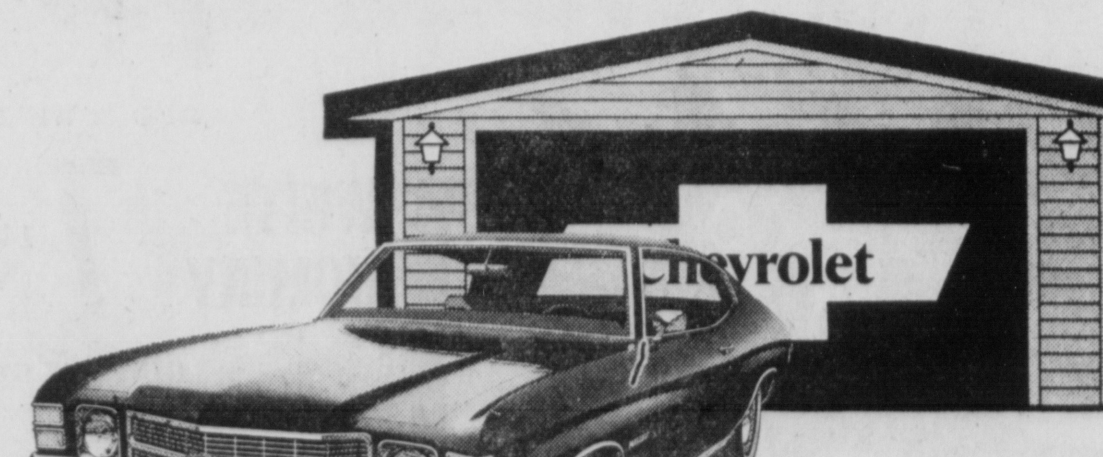
We were having a Chevy garage sale.



Now we have a garage sale and a tax reduction.



If the 7% excise tax is repealed by Congress, the full amount will be refunded to buyers of new 1971 Chevrolets purchased after August 15th.

Your Chevy dealer is having a garage sale—cleaning out his stock of new 1971 Chevrolets at clearance prices.

Plus, the President has asked Congress to repeal the 7% Federal excise tax on automobiles, effective August 15th.

Depending upon the model, this could mean a rebate of up to $200, which will be refunded directly to buyers by Chevrolet.

So, on top of garage-sale savings, the proposed excise tax rebate could mean an extra savings on every '71 model your dealer still has in stock.

On Impala. America's favorite car.
On Chevelle. America's favorite mid-size car.
On Camaro. America's sportiest 4-seater.
On all new 1971 Chevrolets.

Brezhnev is, in fact, trying to undo what was set in motion when Khrushchev reversed years of Stalin enmity fo Tito's League of Communists and conceded that specific national conditions could influence development of a "Socialist' society. The reconciliation never was total, but from then on "national communism" had a better chance of survival.

Lately Brezhnev has taken a prominent part in shaping a Soviet policy aimed in Europe at countering what the Kremlin seems to regard as a Chinese threat of penetration. This Kremlin concern makes Yugoslavia, along with Romania, a prime target of Moscow policy.

Moscow suspects China of trying to link Yugoslavia and Romania to Albania in an anti-Soviet entente allied with Peking. That would give the small countries better leverage for resisting Soviet dictates.

Muskie Talk To Governors Hit By GOP As 'Political'

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Warming up for a campaign year, Republican governors have accused Democrats of fostering unseemly partisanship at the 63rd National Governors Conference.

For their part, the Republicans unanimously endorsed President Nixon's new economic policy, and prepared to defend it today against a proposed Democratic resolution that complains of inequity and advocates restraints on profits along with wages and prices.

Since it would take a three-fourths conference to vote to approve the measure, the GOP governors seemed certain to succeed in blocking it.

"We simply deplore that the Democratic governors seek to use this bipartisan conference as a forum for what we believe is a narrow and partisan approach," said Gov. John A. Love of Colorado.

Love said partisanship was fueled, too, by the featured role of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine at Tuesday night's formal state dinner.

Muskie told the governors the killing of more than 40 convicts and hostages in a four-day uprising at New York's Attica prison "is more stark proof that something is terribly wrong in America ...

"The system has not failed—but some of us have failed the system," the senator told the black-tie banquet, "and both political parties and most recent administrations can claim some share of the blame."

Love questioned the propriety of according Muskie, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, the conference stage. "This should not be a forum for partisan politics," he said.

After Muskie's speech Love said "it wasn't a narrow partisan political speech" but that anything Muskie says from now until the 1972 election will have to be considered political.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Cooler weather is forecast to move into Ohio Thursday following passage of a cold front across the state today.

Temperatures Thursday will range from the mid 60s to mid 70s, compared with readings in the upper 70s and low 80s today.

Isolated showers and thundershowers were forecast in eastern Ohio this afternoon as the cold front crosses the state.

Lows last night ranged mostly in the 60s under clear skies, well above the normals for the date of 51 to 57.

Partly cloudy, cool weather is forecast for the weekend.

—FORECASTS—

OHIO — Variable cloudiness and cooler tonight and Thursday with chance of showers north Thursday. Lows tonight in the 50s. Highs Thursday from the mid 60s to mid 70s.

Ministers Hear AA Story

The Pickaway County Ministerial Association began its fall activities Monday morning with a meeting at Good Shepherd Church.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Orville Gray who spoke on behalf of the work of Alcoholics Anonymous. During Gray's 30-year career in the U.S. Army, he spent part of his time in volunteer work on behalf of persons in need of help due to the excessive use of alcohol. His keen insight into the problem and his deep personal concern for the individual makes Mr. Gray well qualified as he continues to serve those in need.

Following the most informative talk the pastors joined in a discussion on what they and the congregations can do to help the alcoholic. The first premise of AAs is that the individual must admit there is a problem — must realize and confess to himself that he can not combat this sickness on his own.

Once this all-important first step has been taken that individual is on the way to overcoming his problem. And there is help available. In addition to the council and assistance each pastor gladly offers there is the local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous which meets 8:30 p.m. Friday in Trinity Lutheran Church, E. Mound St.

Newly elected president for the Ministerial Association is the Reverend Mr. Donald Cummings, pastor of Tarlton United Methodist Church. Meetings are held the first Monday of each month at Good Shepherd Church, East Main St., 9:30 a.m. All pastors of the county are most cordially invited to participate in the large ministry of Pickaway County Ministerial Association.

Hector Alligator Returns To Old Home Under Dock

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — Hector, a grand old alligator, was trucked from his lakefront home to a spot 140 miles away two years ago when his human neighbors got leery of swimming with a 300-pound reptile.

Guess who's back.

Hector was on hand six years ago when Paul Trier built the first home on Lake LaGorce in this Gulf Coast community about 70 miles south of Tampa.

The Triers and Hector got along famously, but soon other homes began to dot the lake and the new residents grew wary of the thick-skinned pioneer.

So one day Hector found himself bundled in a Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission truck and on his way to Myakka State Park.

Recently, however, Trier said he heard a familiar bellow on the lake and went to investigate.

"There was Hector calling to us, just as he used to when we were late with his breakfast. He came swimming toward me, pushing a large wave under his chin.

"I'll swear he was as excited to see me as I was to see him," said Trier.

Trier is sure the old gator, estimated to be in his mid-60s, is the same old Hector.

The two worked out a breakfast ritual years ago. At first Trier coaxed him with dog food and then began feeding him marshmallows from a wooden spoon.

When Trier was late with the goodies, Hector voiced his displeasure with a most authoritative roar.

The same roar is heard now until Trier floats a dog food-smeared piece of bread out to the hungry reptile.

After wolfing down the soggy repast, the gator whips into his old snoozing nook beneath Trier's dock. He even swims in close for an occasional pat on the head.

Hector's return to the Sarasota County lake was something of an Everglades odyssey. He had to fight swamps, thickets and drainage most of the way.

And while the return was Herculean, his manners best be timid.

Donald Love, Sarasota County wildlife officer for the game commission, said Hector probably can stay "unless the complaints get pretty strenuous."

Then its off to Myakka again.

Chevelle.

If the 7% excise tax is repealed by Congress, the full amount will be refunded to buyers of new 1971 Chevrolets purchased after August 15th.

Your Chevy dealer is having a garage sale—cleaning out his stock of new 1971 Chevrolets at clearance prices.

Plus, the President has asked Congress to repeal the 7% Federal excise tax on automobiles, effective August 15th.

Depending upon the model, this could mean a rebate of up to $200, which will be refunded directly to buyers by Chevrolet.

So, on top of garage-sale savings, the proposed excise tax rebate could mean an extra savings on every '71 model your dealer still has in stock.

Cincy Uses Federal Funds To Fight Drunken Driving

CINCINNATI (AP)—Twelve Cincinnati policemen will begin patrolling streets Jan. 15 assigned specifically to look for intoxicated motorists in hopes of reducing traffic deaths and injuries.

The patrolmen will be added to the Police Department and six special probation officers will be assigned to help rehabilitate drunken drivers under the federal Alcohol Safety Action Program.

"The new program is under the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration," Seth Staples, coordinator of the program, said here Tuesday. "Its purpose is to keep people who drink too much from driving.

"Fifty per cent of traffic accidents are caused by drinking drivers. Department of Transportation studies have established this, and, if anything, the figure is conservative," he said.

Staples said Cincinnati will receive about $2 million in federal funds over a three-year period for the program. Cincinnati is the "demonstration" city in Ohio for the project.

"We're in about 35 cities now, and eventually there will be one demonstration city for each of the 50 states," said Staples.

He said that after the initial programs in the states are completed, the cities or the states will pick up "whatever is valuable in the program, whatever has been effective." He said it is hoped the new program will continue "with some federal funds, probably on a shared basis" with the federal government.

Staples pointed out that there were more than 55,000 traffic deaths in the United States last year.

"We know that social drinkers, on occasions when they drink too much, get into accidents," he sad. "But two-thirds of the 50 per cent of fatal accidents are caused by problem drinkers. They are actually a very small percentage of the population, and of the driving population."

Besides working with law enforcement agencies, officials of the program will appeal to bartenders, waitresses, hosts and hostesses — "almost anybody who can keep a drunken person from trying to drive."

Life Sentence Given In Dayton Murder

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Forty-three-year-old Willie Smith of Dayton has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the shooting death of Trudell Hodges, 44, at her home here last Oct. 25.

Smith pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of second- degree murder Tuesday after his trial on a first-degree murder charge opened before a three-judge panel in Montgomery County Common Pleas Court.

Home-Made Bomb Hurts Findlay Man

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A Findlay man was serously injured Tuesday when a homemade bomb he found in the middle of a rural road exploded in his face.

Hancock County Sheriff William Bell speculated that the bomb had been made with explosives stolen Monday night from the Atlas Powder plant here.

Bell said the bomb exploded as Joe Capponi, 50, was about to pick it up. Capponi was taken to Blanchard Valley Hospital here with serious injuries to the right side of his face. He reportedly had lost the sight of one eye.

Capponi told authorities he had been working along the road just south of the city limits when he saw two young men doing what appeared to be dumping trash.

They drove off when he approached, and Capponi found the can in the center of the road.

Bell said he believed the explosion was linked with the nighttime break-in at the powder plant just outside Findlay, during which thieves took 120 pounds of nitro carbo nitrate, an explosive supplement which increases the blast potential of a charge.

The sheriff said he had requested the assistance of federal authorites in investigating the theft.

Wilmington Gets Trustee

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Bronson P. Clark, executive secretary of the American Friends service committee, has been appointed to the board of trustees of Wilmington College, the school announced Tuesday.

Clark, a charter member of the national "Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace," was a member of a group in 1966 which published "Peace in Vietnam; a New Approach in Southeast Asia."

The college praised Clark's service work and tours of southeast Asia in 1967-68 noting the school is expanding its social involvement in education, bi-cultural teaching training, social service work and prison education.

Clark is a graduate of Antioch College, married and the father of four.

He lives in Philadelphia, headquarters of the American Friends Service Committee. He is a member of the board of Gilford Instruments Laboratories Inc., at Oberlin, Ohio.

Man Recaptured At Wilmington; Fled From Car

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A team of law enforcement agents — most on foot and some in two airplanes — tracked down a prisoner only 15 minutes after he escaped from a Michigan Department of Correctons vehicle Tuesday.

Donald Manilla, 34, of Jackson, Mich., was captured in a cornfield near where the vehicle had stopped at a restaurant on U. S. 68, just off Interstate 71 near here.

Police said Manilla jumped out of the vehicle just before he and three other prisoners were to be taken to eat. The four were being transported from the Reedsville, Ga. State Prison to a state correction center near Jackson.

Manilla has been in jail for probation violation, police said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Friend's Actions Bother Them

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our mid-thirties, so don't get the idea we are a pair of old fogies when you read this.

Our problem is another couple with whom we go out at least once a week. The man has been our good friend for many years. His wife died two years ago and now he is going with a woman who seems to have changed him. He used to act like a perfect gentleman, but not any more. He carries on in public with this girl-kissing, hugging, smooching and what not. This they do in front of children, in restaurants, in the bowling alley, at the beach. Anywhere at all. They act as if they are all alone.

I suppose you could say. "They're in love," but Abby, that's no excuse for bad manners. We have hinted, but it hasn't worked. We would hate to end our friendship with this wonderful guy, but his behavior is just too embarrassing. What do you suggest?

GOOD FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Quit hinting and tell loverboy to knock off the love scenes in public. And if he doesn't, simply put the friendship in cold storage for a while. P.S. He'll be back. This affair is too hot not to cool down.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about a man who goes to church every Sunday and can never tell you what the sermon was about, but he can tell you what everybody wore?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I'd say he's better at looking than listening.

DEAR ABBY: I have an 11-year-old son and a 10-year-old daughter. Last week I came home from the store and found the boy dressed in his sister's clothes. I was so mad I made him sit on the porch so everyone could see him. After about an hour I called him in and asked him why he did it. He said because he wanted to see how he would look dressed as a girl.

Abby, now my daughter tells me her brother has been after her to let him wear her clothes. She has told him no but she knows he has worn them anyway while she wasn't around.

Now my daughter is setting his hair and he likes it. I am getting confused because he makes a prettier girl than his sister, but I don't think he should be encouraged in this, do you? Will he outgrow it in time? Please help me. He has no daddy.

TROUBLED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Get in touch with your local mental health clinic and make an appointment for your son. Boys should be boys and girls should be girls, and the tendencies to be otherwise are rarely outgrown.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is married to a woman who is obsessed with the belief her family is superior to ours because her ancestors supposedly came over on the Mayflower

This claim has been pounded into our grandchildren, and they have been taught to look down on us because we are foreign-born and speak with an accent.

It is ironic that due to hard work and thrift we own our own home and have helped our son and his snobblish wife buy theirs, while her supposedly arisocratic parents have never achieved anyhing for themselves, nor have they helped their children financially.

We are sick of hearing about their pure American heritage. Abby, please set some people straight about who the real Americans are.

AMERICAN, BUT FOREIGN-BORN

DEAR AMERICAN: I thought everyone knew technically the only real Americans were the American Indians. And if you want to read an authoritative, well-documented book on American history from the Indian point of view, get "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee," by Dee Brown.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Sherlock Still Needed In England?

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard ordered a top-level inquiry Tuesday into why its detectives failed to find bandits who broadcast a running commentary while robbing a bank of up to $2.4 million.

A police spokesman said the inquiry will examine "disturbing aspects" of Scotland Yard's handling of the crime.

A radio "ham" picked up the radio commentary Saturday night and told police about the raiders talking on walkie-talkies.

The gang got away with jewels and cash looted from private safe deposits. Officials valued the haul at $1.2 million to $2.4 million.

The raiders spent the weekend tunneling under Lloyd's Bank at the corner of Marylebone Road and Bajer Street.

Robert Rowlands, the radio amateur who lives in Wimpole Street, half a mile from the bank, taped the casual conversation between the raiders in the bank vault and their lookout man on a nearby roof.

After Rowlands called Scotland Yard, police squad cars cruised the area and checked about 100 banks, including Lloyd's, but they found nothing amiss.

Gilligan Plans New York Trip This Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The visit of Gov. John J. Gilligan to New York City Thursday and Friday will include a meeting with New York area businessmen and an appearance on the NBC television program, "Today."

The governor and Mrs. Gilligan plan to fly to New York from San Juan, Puerto Rico, when the National Governor's Conference ends Wednesday.

His address before businessmen at a luncheon is part of the Ohio Department of Development's program to lure new industry to Ohio.

Gilligan plans to return to Columbus Friday to attend a 2 p.m. meeting of the State Apportionment Board.

Business Briefs

It was recently announced by Gene & Gale Sawyer, owners of G & G Sawyer Grain Inc. (formerly Teegardin Grain) Duvall, Ohio, that they will operate their feed business as a Purina Franchise dealer with the Ralston Purina Company.

The Sawyers made the decision to become a Purina Dealer after meeting with Purina District Sales Manager Robert Oesterle.

"We have many good customers, and our primary concern is to provide them with the highest quality products and services possible. Purina does extensive research and field testing on all of their products and programs before they reach the customer and then stands behind them 100 per cent.

"This knowledge, plus Purina's dedication to improve animal feeding and health technology, helped us make this big decision. We are pleased to be associated with this service minded Company," commented Gene Sawyer, Manager.

In addition to the feed business, G & G Sawyer Grain Inc. offers full line of Purina Health Products, Northrup King Seeds, Farm Chemicals, Bulk Feeds Delivery, Grain Bank Storage, Buyers of Cash Grains.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Friend's Actions Bother Them

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our mid-thirties, so don't get the idea we are a pair of old fogies when you read this.

Our problem is another couple with whom we go out at least once a week. The man has been our good friend for many years. His wife died two years ago and now he is going with a woman who seems to have changed him. He used to act like a perfect gentleman, but not any more. He carries on in public with this girl-kissing, hugging, smooching and what not. This they do in front of children, in restaurants, in the bowling alley, at the beach. Anywhere at all. They act as if they are all alone.

I suppose you could say, "They're in love," but Abby, that's no excuse for bad manners. We have hinted, but it hasn't worked. We would hate to end our friendship with this wonderful guy, but his behavior is just too embarrassing. What do you suggest?

GOOD FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Quit hinting and tell loverboy to knock off the love scenes in public. And if he doesn't, simply put the friendship in cold storage for a while. P.S. He'll be back. This affair is too hot not to cool down.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about a man who goes to church every Sunday and can never tell you what the sermon was about, but he can tell you what everybody wore?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I'd say he's better at looking than listening.

DEAR ABBY: I have an 11-year-old son and a 10-year-old daughter. Last week I came home from the store and found the boy dressed in his sister's clothes. I was so mad I made him sit on the porch so everyone could see him. After about an hour I called him in and asked him why he did it. He said because he wanted to see how he would look dressed as a girl.

Abby, now my daughter tells me her brother has been after her to let him wear her clothes. She has told him no but she knows he has worn them anyway while she wasn't around.

Now my daughter is setting his hair and he likes it. I am getting confused because he makes a prettier girl than his sister, but I don't think he should be encouraged in this, do you? Will he outgrow it in time? Please help me. He has no daddy.

Gifts For U.S. Governors Mount At Puerto Rican Meet

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — It's a far cry from the sets of matched luggage and the color television sets of the past, but participants in the 63rd National Governors Conference will take home some handsome gifts from Puerto Rico.

The bounty extends to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew who spent two days at the conference, President Nixon who hasn't shown up, as well as the press and other participants.

In keeping with a decision two years ago to limit the gifts, most of the mementoes are local products—and all of the clothing was made in Puerto Rico. The gift committee was under orders to keep the gifts local, in good taste and to a minimum.

Each governor is receiving a deep blue sports jacket, double-breasted and hand-stitched in white with red lining, plus a pair of loafers. Their wives are receiving a china tea set featuring San Juan's 450th anniversary seal.

Other gifts for the governors include a folder of paintings, records featuring a local singer, a billfold, rum, fruit and maracas.

Agnew received a handmade cuatro, a guitar-like instrument that took a month to make. Mrs. Agnew, who accompanied him here, got an orchid print gown from fabric that reportedly cost $80 a yard.

Nixon's present, prepared before he decided not to come, was a burgundy velvet smoking jacket with quilted black silk lapels and cuffs, plus a carving of the three wise men.

Mrs. Nixon received an off-white hostess gown.

Aides to the governors got wallets, and their children got several presents including Puerto Rico sweatshirts.

Members of the press received Puerto Rican rum, cigars and a local shirt known as a "guayabera." Press kits also contained raffle tickets offering the chance to win a guitar, a color television set or day's trip to nearby St. Croix in the Virgin Islands after the conference ends.

Ohio Municipal Meeting Slated

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The annual Ohio Municipal Conference and Products Exhibit sponsored by the Ohio Municipal League will be held Sept. 21-24 at the Sheraton-Dayton Hotel.

Akron Mayor John S. Ballard, president of the league, will preside at the opening sessions. John P. Coleman, executive director of the league, will speak at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 21 on "The State Tax Picture" during a financial seminar.

Gov. John J. Gilligan will address the conference's luncheon session at 12:30 p.m. Sept. 23. Later in the day Atty. Gen. William J. Brown will speak on pollution.

Derby

Mrs. Georgia Sweet
896-2462

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mouser were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mouser and grandson Mike Manes of Cleveland.

Miss Connie Lett, 18, of near Derby was chosen the Ohio State Fair's Queen of Queens on Sunday September 5th at the Fair. She will be Miss Ohio State Fair in 1972. A sophomore majoring in Nursing at Ohio State University, Miss Lett is also Ohio Shropshire Queen.

Both Sides Claim Win In Busing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Both supporters and opponents of busing are claiming victory after more than 40 per cent of the public school pupils missed classes on the opening day of a mass busing for integration program.

San Francisco is the nation's largest city operating under a court-ordered busing plan.

No figures will be available until later in the week on how many of the 26,000 students assigned to be bused actually rode them Monday, officials said.

The school district reported 29,325 children attended classes Monday, 58.6 per cent of an estimated 50,000 enrollment. Normal first day attendance is 90 per cent.

Bob Jacibs, cochairman of an antibusing coalition called WALK (We all Love Kids), disputed many district attendance figures and estimated 64 per cent were absent in the integrated kindergarten through sixth grade classes.

A busing opponent called attendance figures evidence of "the most effective boycott against forced busing in any major city."

School district officials called the first day a success and predicted many children who stayed away Monday would be in class soon.

Officials said there was no violence, not even any first-day fist fights. Picketing was light.

Gifts For U.S. Governors Mount At Puerto Rican Meet

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — It's a far cry from the sets of matched luggage and the color television sets of the past, but participants in the 63rd National Governors Conference will take home some handsome gifts from Puerto Rico.

The bounty extends to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew who spent two days at the conference, President Nixon who hasn't shown up, as well as the press and other participants.

In keeping with a decision two years ago to limit the gifts, most of the mementoes are local products—and all of the clothing was made in Puerto Rico. The gift committee was under orders to keep the gifts local, in good taste and to a minimum.

Each governor is receiving a deep blue sports jacket, double-breasted and hand-stitched in white with red lining, plus a pair of loafers. Their wives are receiving a china tea set featuring San Juan's 450th anniversary seal.

Other gifts for the governors include a folder of paintings, records featuring a local singer, a billfold, rum, fruit and maracas.

Agnew received a handmade cuatro, a guitar-like instrument that took a month to make. Mrs. Agnew, who accompanied him here, got an orchid print gown from fabric that reportedly cost $80 a yard.

Nixon's present, prepared before he decided not to come, was a burgundy velvet smoking jacket with quilted black silk lapels and cuffs, plus a carving of the three wise men.

Mrs. Nixon received an off-white hostess gown.

Aides to the governors got wallets, and their children got several presents including Puerto Rico sweatshirts.

Members of the press received Puerto Rican rum, cigars and a local shirt known as a "guayabera." Press kits also contained raffle tickets offering the chance to win a guitar, a color television set or day's trip to nearby St. Croix in the Virgin Islands after the conference ends.

Ohio Municipal Meeting Slated

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The annual Ohio Municipal Conference and Products Exhibit sponsored by the Ohio Municipal League will be held Sept. 21-24 at the Sheraton-Dayton Hotel.

Akron Mayor John S. Ballard, president of the league, will preside at the opening sessions. John P. Coleman, executive director of the league, will speak at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 21 on "The State Tax Picture" during a financial seminar.

Gov. John J. Gilligan will address the conference's luncheon session at 12:30 p.m. Sept. 23. Later in the day Atty. Gen. William J. Brown will speak on pollution.

LA, Giants Game Apart

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

. . . And then there was one.

One game separates them—and from now on, it'll be up to the rest of the National League West to decide whether the Los Angeles Dodgers or San Francisco Giants wear the crown.

Or maybe they'll still have to work it out themselves. They've had to do it before—twice in 20 years—and in each case the Giants have come out on top.

But when these two teams collide, it's not just another game.

"It was like a World Series game," Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston said after his scrambling, clawing Dodgers won their eighth in a row and 13th in 15 games, stunning the Giants 6-5 on Manny Mota's three-run pinch double in the top of the ninth inning.

It was also their eighth straight triumph this year over San Francisco and gave the hard-charging Dodgers the season series 12-6 against the Giants, who less than two weeks ago commanded what seemed to be an all-but-invulnerable 8½-game margin before losing nine of 10.

"I wasn't discouraged," said the unemotional Alston, referring to the ninth inning, when the Dodgers came up trailing 5-3. "I've been around long enough to know you can't give up too soon."

The Dodgers didn't. They loaded the bases with nobody out on singles by Duke Sims, pinch-hitter Bull Sudakis and Maury Wills, setting up Mota's liner that sailed just inches over third baseman Alan Gallagher's glove, sending all three runners scurrying across the plate.

The two-bagger obliterated the San Francisco lead built on Bobby Bonds' second home run of the game, a three-run blast in the seventh inning coming only minutes after Chris Speier had hit a solo shot which started the rally.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 4-3 to open a 7½-game East lead over St. Louis, which lost 5-4 to Philadelphia, Atlanta rode Hank Aaron's two home runs to a 5-2 victory over Cincinnati, Montreal split a doubleheader with the New York Mets, winning the opener 12-1 before losing 6-3, and San Diego topped Houston 5-2.

"We threw everything we had at them," a downcast Giants Manager Charlie Fox muttered. "We got five runs—you'd think we could get three outs in the ninth." They got them—one double and three runs too late.

"Six inches lower and we might have had a triple play," he said of Mota's liner. Then, his gaze turning to a defiant glare, he added: "We're still one game ahead with 14 left to play. We're not going to pack up and quit!"

"Now we can start worrying about the Cards," Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh said after his Bucs beat the Cubs on Richie Hebner's triple and a passed ball in the sixth inning, tagging 21-game winner Ferguson Jenkins with his 13th loss.

"We've got five big games against St. Louis in the next eight," Murtaugh said, "and that's the way it should be—the two contenders going against each other."

Rick Wise of the Phils helped win his own game at the plate, driving in two runs with a single in the five-run second inning that flipped the Cards.

Aaron's five runs batted in with his 42nd and 43rd homers of the season moved him past Stan Musial into fourth place on the all-time RBI list with 1,953, just one behind the late Ty Cobb.

He hit a three-run job in the first inning following singles by Felix Millan and Ralph Garr, then unloaded in the fifth after winning pitcher Ron Reed bunted his way on base. It was the 53rd time Aaron has hit two or more homers in a game and gave him 635 career round trippers.

Ron Fairly drove in five runs for the Expos in their opening game romp by Wayne Garrett and Ed Kranepool countered with homers in the nightcap for the Mets. Rusty Staub had one in each game for Montreal.

Ed Acosta tamed the Astros on five hits and got all the runs he needed when the Padres struck for five in the first inning.

A's Could Clinch AL Flag In Clash Against Chicago

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland A's, playing it cool, can clinch the American League's West Division pennant tonight in owner Charles O. Finley's backyard—Chicago.

The A's had a chance to wrap it all up Tuesday night in Kansas City but the Royals used six innings of shutout relief pitching by rookie Monty Montgomery to delay the clinching, 2-0.

There was no evidence of champagne or other celebration paraphernalia in the A's dressing room. Apparently, Finley had decided Kansas City would be no place to celebrate a title for his A's, who fled that town for Oakland in 1968.

The A's play a twi-night doubleheader against Chicago tonight and a sweep or a split combined with a KC loss against California would clinch the crown for Finley, whose insurance company is headquartered in Chicago.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, New York rapped Boston 6-3, Detroit belted Baltimore 6-1, Milwaukee trimmed Chicago 5-4, and Cleveland topped Washington, 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game was suspended after 16 innings by a local curfew, tied at 5-5.

Montgomery, making his major league debut, relieved Kansas City starter Paul Splittorf in the fourth inning after Splittorff was struck on the right kneecap by a line drive. The youngster, who had spent this season with Elmira in the Eastern League, permitted the A's just four hits and earned the victory.

Diego Segui, 9-7, was locked in a scoreless duel with young Montgomery until the seventh when Amos Otis led off with a single for KC.

Otis stole second—his 50th stolen base of the season, tops in the American League—and went to third when catcher Dave Duncan threw the ball into center field for an error. Then Joe Keough singled off first baseman Mike Epstein's glove, scoring Otis.

An inning later, the A's had another run when Bobby Knoop singled, moved up on Montgomery's sacrifice and scored on Freddie Patek's triple.

That was enough to beat the A's and delay the celebration they weren't really planning to have in Kansas City anyway.

Karras Blasts Detroit Lions After Being Put On Waivers

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Outspoken Alex Karras, who harassed opposing National Football League quarterbacks and running backs as a defensive tackle with the Detroit Lions since 1958, lashed out at the Detroit management Tuesday after the Lions placed him on waivers.

Karras was the most familiar name on the waiver lists as NFL teams trimmed their rosters to the 40-man maximum decreed by the league.

He was promptly claimed by George Allen of the Washington Redskins. Karras said he would let Allen know whether or not he would report to Washington today.

"I cannot believe that the Lions' decision to place me on waivers is based on a fair assessment of my performance on the field," the 36-year-old Karras contended. "There are other factors involved.

"Perhaps there is no room in the world of sports these days for an athlete who has an opinion on anything except his own sport," Karras said, before being claimed by Washington.

"I have opinions. I think I am entitled to the same considerations as other human beings. That includes having the right to express myself on something other than playing defensive tackle," the 6-foot-2, 250-pounder declared.

Karras, suspended for the 1963 season by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for allegedly betting on football games, was out for much of last year with a knee injury, but says he is now 100 per cent.

He is the latest in a long line of veterans obtained by Allen in his efforts to bolster the Redskins.

Another familiar name on the waiver lists was Tom Dempsey, the New Orleans Saints place kicker who booted the longest field goal in NFL history last season, a 63-yarder to defeat the Detroit Lions on the final play of the game.

Dempsey, born without a right hand and with only half a left foot, said he would try to catch on with another NFL club.

"Sure, I'm discouraged and I'm hurt," he declared. "But I've been down before ... and I've gotten back up. I know I can kick in this league and I'm going to."

Other veterans to be trimmed included running backs Ernie Koy and Les Shy, guard Larry Gagner and defensive back Otto Brown, by the New York Giants; running back Rocky Bleier, by the Pittsburgh Steelers; kicker Mark Moseley and defensive end Don Brumm, by the Philadelphia Eagles; defensive tackle Dan Goich and linebacker Marty Schottenheimer, by the Baltimore Colts, and tight end Pat Richter, by the Dallas Cowboys.

Kansas City linebacker Chuck Hurston, placed on waivers Monday, was claimed by the Buffalo Bills.

MAC First: All Opening Games Win

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in its 25-year history, the Mid-American Conference won all of its opening football games last weekend.

One of the prime reasons for it was a star Mid-American trackman.

Sound confusing? Not really.

Gordon Ober, second in the MAC high hurdles last spring, booted three field goals, the last with eight seconds to play to give Kent State a 23-21 triumph over North Carolina State.

A week before, Ober was missing his tries in a scrimmage. New Kent State Coach Don James went to the movies and spotted the flaw.

"I was discouraged with him. I viewed the film and noticed he kicks much better with Larry Hayes holding the ball. So Hayes did all the holding Saturday and Ober made five straight—two extra points and two field goals," said James.

Ironically, Ober turned in his best college performance with a separted shoulder, hurt on the opening kickoff. the 6-foot-2, 200-pound senior from Dalton made only 8 of 16 field goals last fall.

"He's a question mark for kickoffs at Cincinnati Saturday," said James. "He'll kick extra points and field goal though. We feel we can protect him there."

James credits halftime ice packing of his players as an innovation of team physican Tony Adamle — for their freshness in the second half.

"We could have gone another quarter. Our kids were fresh at the end," said the Kent coach.

"Adamle has the players strip to the waist and puts ice pack towels on them. They also put on fresh, dry clothes such as tee shirts and jerseys," James explained.

LA, Giants Game Apart

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

. . . And then there was one.

One game separates them—and from now on, it'll be up to the rest of the National League West to decide whether the Los Angeles Dodgers or San Francisco Giants wear the crown.

Or maybe they'll still have to work it out themselves. They've had to do it before—twice in 20 years—and in each case the Giants have come out on top.

But when these two teams collide, it's not just another game.

"It was like a World Series game," Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston said after his scrambling, clawing Dodgers won their eighth in a row and 13th in 15 games, stunning the Giants 6-5 on Manny Mota's three-run pinch double in the top of the ninth inning.

It was also their eighth straight triumph this year over San Francisco and gave the hard-charging Dodgers the season series 12-6 against the Giants, who less than two weeks ago commanded what seemed to be an all-but-invulnerable 8½-game margin before losing nine of 10.

"I wasn't discouraged," said the unemotional Alston, referring to the ninth inning, when the Dodgers came up trailing 5-3. "I've been around long enough to know you can't give up too soon."

The Dodgers didn't. They loaded the bases with nobody out on singles by Duke Sims, pinch-hitter Bull Sudakis and Maury Wills, setting up Mota's liner that sailed just inches over third baseman Alan Gallagher's glove, sending all three runners scurrying across the plate.

The two-bagger obliterated the San Francisco lead built on Bobby Bonds' second home run of the game, a three-run blast in the seventh inning coming only minutes after Chris Speier had hit a solo shot which started the rally.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 4-3 to open a 7½-game East lead over St. Louis, which lost 5-4 to Philadelphia, Atlanta rode Hank Aaron's two home runs to a 5-2 victory over Cincinnati, Montreal split a doubleheader with the New York Mets, winning the opener 12-1 before losing 6-3, and San Diego topped Houston 5-2.

"We threw everything we had at them," a downcast Giants Manager Charlie Fox muttered. "We got five runs—you'd think we could get three outs in the ninth." They got them—one double and three runs too late.

"Six inches lower and we might have had a triple play," he said of Mota's liner. Then, his gaze turning to a defiant glare, he added: "We're still one game ahead with 14 left to play. We're not going to pack up and quit!"

"Now we can start worrying about the Cards," Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh said after his Bucs beat the Cubs on Richie Hebner's triple and a passed ball in the sixth inning, tagging 21-game winner Ferguson Jenkins with his 13th loss.

"We've got five big games against St. Louis in the next eight," Murtaugh said, "and that's the way it should be—the two contenders going against each other."

Rick Wise of the Phils helped win his own game at the plate, driving in two runs with a single in the five-run second inning that flipped the Cards.

Aaron's five runs batted in with his 42nd and 43rd homers of the season moved him past Stan Musial into fourth place on the all-time RBI list with 1,953, just one behind the late Ty Cobb.

He hit a three-run job in the first inning following singles by Felix Millan and Ralph Garr, then unloaded in the fifth after winning pitcher Ron Reed bunted his way on base. It was the 53rd time Aaron has hit two or more homers in a game and gave him 635 career round trippers.

Ron Fairly drove in five runs for the Expos in their opening game romp by Wayne Garrett and Ed Kranepool countered with homers in the nightcap for the Mets. Rusty Staub had one in each game for Montreal.

Ed Acosta tamed the Astros on five hits and got all the runs he needed when the Padres struck for five in the first inning.

A's Could Clinch AL Flag In Clash Against Chicago

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland A's, playing it cool, can clinch the American League's West Division pennant tonight in owner Charles O. Finley's backyard—Chicago.

The A's had a chance to wrap it all up Tuesday night in Kansas City but the Royals used six innings of shutout relief pitching by rookie Monty Montgomery to delay the clinching, 2-0.

There was no evidence of champagne or other celebration paraphernalia in the A's dressing room. Apparently, Finley had decided Kansas City would be no place to celebrate a title for his A's, who fled that town for Oakland in 1968.

The A's play a twi-night doubleheader against Chicago tonight and a sweep or a split combined with a KC loss against California would clinch the crown for Finley, whose insurance company is headquartered in Chicago.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, New York rapped Boston 6-3, Detroit belted Baltimore 6-1, Milwaukee trimmed Chicago 5-4, and Cleveland topped Washington, 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game was suspended after 16 innings by a local curfew, tied at 5-5.

Montgomery, making his major league debut, relieved Kansas City starter Paul Splittorf in the fourth inning after Splittorff was struck on the right kneecap by a line drive. The youngster, who had spent this season with Elmira in the Eastern League, permitted the A's just four hits and earned the victory.

Diego Segui, 9-7, was locked in a scoreless duel with young Montgomery until the seventh when Amos Otis led off with a single for KC.

Otis stole second—his 50th stolen base of the season, tops in the American League—and went to third when catcher Dave Duncan threw the ball into center field for an error. Then Joe Keough singled off first baseman Mike Epstein's glove, scoring Otis.

An inning later, the A's had another run when Bobby Knoop singled, moved up on Montgomery's sacrifice and scored on Freddie Patek's triple.

That was enough to beat the A's and delay the celebration they weren't really planning to have in Kansas City anyway.

Karras Blasts Detroit Lions After Being Put On Waivers

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Outspoken Alex Karras, who harassed opposing National Football League quarterbacks and running backs as a defensive tackle with the Detroit Lions since 1958, lashed out at the Detroit management Tuesday after the Lions placed him on waivers.

Karras was the most familiar name on the waiver lists as NFL teams trimmed their rosters to the 40-man maximum decreed by the league.

He was promptly claimed by George Allen of the Washington Redskins. Karras said he would let Allen know whether or not he would report to Washington today.

"I cannot believe that the Lions' decision to place me on waivers is based on a fair assessment of my performance on the field," the 36-year-old Karras contended. "There are other factors involved.

"Perhaps there is no room in the world of sports these days for an athlete who has an opinion on anything except his own sport," Karras said, before being claimed by Washington.

"I have opinions. I think I am entitled to the same considerations as other human beings. That includes having the right to express myself on something other than playing defensive tackle," the 6-foot-2, 250-pounder declared.

Karras, suspended for the 1963 season by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for allegedly betting on football games, was out for much of last year with a knee injury, but says he is now 100 per cent.

He is the latest in a long line of veterans obtained by Allen in his efforts to bolster the Redskins.

Another familiar name on the waiver lists was Tom Dempsey, the New Orleans Saints place kicker who booted the longest field goal in NFL history last season, a 63-yarder to defeat the Detroit Lions on the final play of the game.

Dempsey, born without a right hand and with only half a left foot, said he would try to catch on with another NFL club.

"Sure, I'm discouraged and I'm hurt," he declared. "But I've been down before ... and I've gotten back up. I know I can kick in this league and I'm going to."

Other veterans to be trimmed included running backs Ernie Koy and Les Shy, guard Larry Gagner and defensive back Otto Brown, by the New York Giants; running back Rocky Bleier, by the Pittsburgh Steelers; kicker Mark Moseley and defensive end Don Brumm, by the Philadelphia Eagles; defensive tackle Dan Goich and linebacker Marty Schottenheimer, by the Baltimore Colts, and tight end Pat Richter, by the Dallas Cowboys.

Kansas City linebacker Chuck Hurston, placed on waivers Monday, was claimed by the Buffalo Bills.

Manning Leads Young Saints

By JERRY ESTILL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Only four years old and already in a "rebuilding" program the New Orleans Saints are depending on rookie quarterback Archie Manning, a handful of proven players and a host of young unknowns to aim them in a winning direction.

Manning has superstar potential and there may be some gems hidden among the younger players, but the established talent is sparse.

Fans are not likely to need more than two or three fingers to keep up with Saint victories.

Based on their preseason performance, whether the Saints win at all will depend on Manning staying healthy and being able to perform the same magic in the National Football League he worked in college.

The big redhead from Mississippi runs as well as he passes and the Saints are gearing their offense to take advantage of his talents.

Manning can drop back and pass, but he's most dangerous when he rolls out. And he can go to the right or left with equal effectiveness.

Along with Manning, the Saints have an outstanding punter, adequate receivers, a slashing but injury-prone running back . . . and little else.

The team had lost 11 straight going into its final preseason game after struggling to a 2-11-1 record last year.

Coach J.D. Roberts is in his first year as coach since replacing Tom Fears who was fired midway through the 1970 season.

Roberts has traded away last year's starting quarterback and the Saint's No. 1 draft choice in 1970.

In return he got offensive tackle Glenn Ray Hines and fullback Hoyle Granger—both of whom probably will start—and an assortment of unproven young players and draft choices.

"We knew when we embarked on our build-with-youth policy that the progress could be slow and painful," says Roberts.

"There's no doubt that a great deal of improvement is necessary but the situation isn't hopeless and individual progress is being made.

"We've just got to put everything together one of these days-but it can't be accomplished without a lot of hard work, patience and the inevitable defeats that are pinned on a team in this state of its development," said Roberts.

As many as 11 rookies are good bets to stick on the Saints 47-man roster. Only 20 of the veterans on the 1971 team were on the roster at the beginning of the 1970 season.

Among the established players still on hand are receivers Danny Abramowicz, who led the conference in 1969, Al Dodd and tight end Dave Parks.

Julian Fagan led the conference in punting in 1970 and appears ready to take up where he left off.

Granger and Tony Baker are quality runners, but Granger lacks outside speed and Baker seems constantly hobbled with injuries.

Safeties Hugo Hollas and Doug Wyatt and Cornerback Delles Howell were regulars last year as rookies and will be joined this season by rookie cornerback D'Artagnan Martin. Their presence should make the secondary the Saints' strong suit.

Kuntz Loft Wins Pigeon Race

Circleville Pigeon Club held its fifth race from Corbin, Ky., with 95 birds from eight lofts taking part in the 200-mile event.

Homer Kuntz loft took first and second place and loft nomination derby with times of 1090.227 and 1014.043 yards per minute.

Don Davis loft placed third with 1001.919 ypm and Hager Blevins loft was fourth with 991.333 ypm.

Pollys Pride Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pollys Pride came from third position in the stretch to win the two-mile feature on the last night of the racing season at Scioto Downs Tuesday.

The winner, off at 25-1, returned $62.80, $46.80 and $11.40. Crope Kuno paid $11.80 for second and Smolder $3.60 for show.

The 1-3 daily double of Harmony Chips and Tri Chapel paid $20.60, and the 6-8 quinella, $109.20.

Final night attendance was 6,485 and handle $329,292.

Officials Set For Beulah Park Meet

Officials for the 13-day Fall Quarter Horse Meeting at Beulah Park, Sept. 17 thru Oct. 2, were disclosed Tuesday by Bob Houser, general manager as final preparations were being made for Ohio's largest sprinter event.

Named as stewards during a special Open House at the Columbus Sheraton were Edward Champaine (state steward), Everet McIntire and Vincent Mara. Dean McKinney is racing secretary.

Appointed as placing judges were Gene English and Mike Ledley, Orene Hampton is the patrol judge, and Guy Radcliff will serve in a dual capacity as paddock judge and identifier.

Don Rose is the starter and C. K. Keller the timer. Mutuel manager is Mathew Koldys, admission manager Russell Toy and George Bulcroft, jockey room custodian.

GLENN E. Pierce & Associates, Inc., will serve as horsemens bookkeeper and Dr. A. B. White D.V.M., a Beulah veteran of long standing, will again be track veterinarian.

Don Reed, veteran racing writer, who held down the Beulah Park publicity post for 14 years is not returning due to ill health. Herb Wells replaces him.

Clerk of scales is Earl Dickerson.

Entries continue to pour in ahead of the Wednesday's 9:30 a.m. deadline, some who participated in the Ruidose Downs, N. M. meeting and the All-American Quarter Horse Futurity, the grandaddy and richest of all quarter horse races.

SPORTS Highlights

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Charlie Davis says he's kind of surprised running was so easy against Louisiana State Saturday night.

There's plenty of reason for surprise. The swift tailback romped for 174 yards in 20 carries and scored two touchdowns in Colorado's 31-21 upset of the Tigers at Baton Rouge, La.

That performance—against the nation's top team in rushing defense the past two seasons, a team which allowed just 52.2 yards per game rushing in 1970—earned Davis The Associated Press College Back of the Week honors for the first weekend of the season.

PCC Fall Roundup Slated Saturday

County Schools Ready For Friday Grid Action

All three county schools will be looking for their first win of the season Friday night when Westfall takes to the road, Teays Valley hosts the Tigers of Circleville and Logan Elm is home to Carroll.

Westfall will be at Madison Plains, a consolidation of Madison South and The Plains of Mt. Sterling, to take on a powerful Lions aggregation. Madison Plains came up with a big win in the season opener when they upended the tough Warriors of Adena.

Logan Elm will meet the Bulldogs who downed Johnstown in the opening game of the season.

It will be a big night at Teays Valley when the Vikings clash with the Circleville Tigers in a county rivalry. This is one game where season records go out the window and the game is up for grabs.

* * *

WESTFALL suffered bumps and bruises in the Berne Union clash but coach Bill Vance expects to have a healthy squad on the field Friday night.

"Our defense broke down on several plays at Berne Union" coach Vance stated, "and we got hurt each time.

"These mistakes set up several Rocket touchdowns and turned what should have been a tie game into a victory for Berne Union," Vance continued.

The Mustangs have been hard at work this week to make sure they don't make the same mistakes against Madison Plains.

"We had a good chance to evaluate some of our personnel against the Rockets and there will be some changes made for Friday's game," Vance said.

"Our kids are up and ready for Madison Plains and were not discouraged by the opening loss," Vance offered. "These kids have a lot of pride and determination and will go all out against the Lions."

* * *

VANCE expects to move the ball on the ground against the Lions and if the passing game shapes up he feels the Mustangs will stand a good chance in the encounter.

Madison Plains is a big, strong club with good size and quick backs. They have a solid running game and employ a tough multiple defense.

The Barker brothers, Tim and Tom, are a pair of high stepping backs for the Lions and must be contained if the Mustangs are going to end up on the winning side of the ledger.

Offensively the Mustangs will go with Randy Metzger at tight end and either Larry Adams or Jim Akison manning the split end position.

Joe Jude and Jim Dawson will be the tackles, Artie Dick and Danny Lett the guards with Randy Long over the ball.

Dave Shannon will be at quarterback with Gary Underwood, Alan Underwood, Adams, Larry Harris and Ted Musselman battling for the other three berths.

* * *

ON defense the Scarlet and Gray will have Dana Brigner and Long at the ends, Jude and Dawson at the tackles and Harris in the middle guard slot.

Shannon and Dick will man the linebacker posts with Adams, Lett, Metzger and Musselman rounding out the defensive secondary.

Injuries have forced the Logan Elm coaches to make switches in the starting alignment.

Kenny Kurtz will definitely miss the game with the Bulldogs because of a knee injury sustained last week against Amanda. Steve Pusey, also with a knee injury, is a doubtful starter. He will be replaced by Ed Bialy at tackle.

Tackle Don Dean is out for three weeks because of torn ligaments in the ankle and will be replaced on offense by Dennis Schaal.

Sophomore quarterback Steve Sargent has been given the starting assignment for Friday's game while senior quarterback Punk Jones has been shifted to a defensive linebacker position along with Steve DeBruin. Greg Justus will start at halfback. He is a freshman.

* * *

DEFENSIVELY, Mike Williams and Jim Bigam will man the tackle spots.

Steve Fischer, veteran defensive halfback who missed the first game, will share the safety position with Rod Howard. Otherwise, starting positions will remain the same.

Carroll won its first game against Johnstown, 6-0. They have a good defensive squad, a good dropback passer and will run a lot of counters according to scouting reports received by the Braves.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Vessie Holbrook, who passed away two years ago today.
You were such a wonderful mother
And we all loved you so
Just how much we miss you
No one could ever know.
Sadly missed by the Family

1. Card of Thanks

The family of Blanche E Goldhardt wishes to thank their friends, relatives and neighbors for the many floral arrangements memorials, food and kindness during our bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. Fearless Grid Forecaster Picks Irish

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As usual, Notre Dame is concerned with Who's No. 1? But right now, as the Fighting Irish prepare to open their season Saturday against Northwestern, it's not No. 1 in the country but No. 1 at quarterback.

The answer probably won't be known until Friday. Senior Bill Etter, junior Pat Steenberge and sophomore Cliff Brown shared the position in last weekend's scrimmage. The reason for the decision delay is that Etter has a hip pointer and Steenberg a hamstring pull.

Whoever wins out will be expected to lead the Irish to a national championship. Anything else doesn't make the Notre Dame faithful very happy, since they don't belong to a conference and don't have a league title to battle for.

The unnamed quarterback will be joined by most of the starters from last year's 10-1 squad which ended Texas 30-game winning steak in the Cotton Bowl and finished second in the national rankings. The Irish are still second, although they led the preseason poll only to be passed by Nebraska, which opened impressively last weekend.

They shouldn't drop any lower, even though Northwestern outplayed Michigan during the first half of its early opener but came away a 21-6 loser. Only one Northwestern coach has had Notre Dame's number, beating the Irish four in a row from 1959-62. His name was Ara Parseghian and he now coaches at . . . NOTRE DAME.

Texas at UCLA-IF UCLA was looking past Pitt a week ago, the object of their attention was Texas. The Longhorns pulled out last year's thriller 20-17 on a miraculous 45-yard pass with 12 seconds left. What can they do for an encore? How about an easier win? TEXAS.

Oklahoma State at Arkansas-Watch out for the Cowboys' great sophs next year. Watch out for the Razorbacks this Saturday. ARKANSAS.

Southern Methodist at Oklahoma-Can super athlete Gary Hammond, now a quarterback after two years as a receiver and running back, outshine the Sooners: all-veteran backfield? Unh-unh. OKLAHOMA.

Tulane at Georgia-It's Bullet Joe Bullard and his Bandits against Georgia super soph quarterback Andy Johnson. Bulldogs bite bandits. GEORGIA.

Wisconsin at Syracuse-This looked like Wisconsin's explosive offense against the rugged Syracuse defense . . . until the Orangemen's own attack scintillated in its final scrimmage. SYRACUSE.

Houston at Arizona State—This is the weekend's only match-up between Top Twenty teams. Cougars are 20th, Sun Devils 16th ... and counting. ARIZONA STATE.

Michigan State at Georgia Tech—Big game for both teams, with even bigger ones just around the corner. Healthy Spartans on the road back after rash of 1970 injuries. MICHIGAN STATE.

South Carolina at Duke—Were the Gamecocks for real in beating Georgia Tech? Were the Blue Devils for real in beating Florida? Something's gotta give. DUKE.

Villanova at Toledo—Rockets' 24-game winning streak, longest in the land, is in danger against pass-catcher Mike Siani & Co. A victory for Toledo probably means another unbeaten campaign. So be it. TOLEDO.

New Mexico at Texas Tech—Lobos open their bid for national recognition. Red Raiders have already played . . and lost. A lot of teams will be looking ahead to Texas—remember UCLA last Saturday?—and this week it's Tech's turn. NEW MEXICO.

Purdue at Washington—Boilermakers have a date next week with Notre Dame. Sonny Sixkiller becomes Sonny Purduekiller. WASHINGTON.

BEHIND THE 8-BALL—And that's Willie Stargell, the Pirates' slugger who leads the major leagues in home runs and is heading for 50.

Aaron Leads Atlanta Win Over Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Who is 37, feels like he is 27, swings the bat like he is 22, and has 43 homers? The answer is No. 44 for the Atlanta Braves, Hank Aaron.

Aaron, who could keep a mathematician busy with all his figures, blasted two homers and drove in five runs Tuesday night to pace the Atlanta Braves over the Cincinnati Reds 5-2.

The homer upped his carreer total to 635 and the RBI's gave him 1,953, a National League record. Aaron now ranks fourth in the majors in career RBI's and is just one behind Ty Cobb with 1,954.

"To tell you the truth, I don't feel like I'm 37," Aaron said about performance. I just feel great.

"But I have been very fortunate because I've always been surrounded by good hitters," he continued, referring to former third baseman Eddie Matthews, injured Orlando Cepeda, infielder Earl Williams, and catcher Joe Torre, now with St. Louis.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said, "Aaron is something else. He swings like he is 22. He really attacks the ball. He is sort of like a jackhammer."

Aaron clubbed a three-run homer in the first inning and a two-run shot in the fifth, and both came off young lefthander Don Gullett who entered the game with quite a list of statistics of his own.

Fearless Grid Forecaster Picks Irish

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As usual, Notre Dame is concerned with Who's No. 1? But right now, as the Fighting Irish prepare to open their season Saturday against Northwestern, it's not No. 1 in the country but No. 1 at quarterback.

The answer probably won't be known until Friday. Senior Bill Etter, junior Pat Steenberge and sophomore Cliff Brown shared the position in last weekend's scrimmage. The reason for the decision delay is that Etter has a hip pointer and Steenberg a hamstring pull.

Whoever wins out will be expected to lead the Irish to a national championship. Anything else doesn't make the Notre Dame faithful very happy, since they don't belong to a conference and don't have a league title to battle for.

The unnamed quarterback will be joined by most of the starters from last year's 10-1 squad which ended Texas 30-game winning steak in the Cotton Bowl and finished second in the national rankings. Objective Teaching Policy Considered In Circleville

Circleville City school board members were told of a new concept of teaching being investigated for future use in the district.

During the monthly meeting, the Board of Education spent some time discussing with Superintendent Fritz Jacobs and Elementary Supervisor Donald Metzler a new teaching method based on behavioral objectives.

Simply stated, this program offers definite objectives for a student to accomplish under a course, rather than broad goals. The objectives are stated, the instructor has a definite course of study to follow and a way to measure what the youth has accomplished when he leaves the class.

In the school's move toward this, Jacobs noted that it may take several years to get it started and such a change would not be easy. "At any time that we discover the program is not working," he advised the board, "I guarantee that we will scrap it. It's a big job, but not impossible."

* * *

THE "big job" involves getting all the teachers into the program's formation. This is not a study guide from a textbook, but a program created by the entire district teaching staff. Under this direction, the teachers will formulate a clearer basis for course design and be able to determine whether instructional accomplishments are achieved by their pupils as hoped for.

Definite accomplishments are desired. In automotives, an instructor might wish to set a standard that pupils could correct a maladjustment in a carburetor without the aid of a manual. The teachers might ask that it be performed under certain conditions, like within five minutes. While this may be the teaching methods now used in city schools, under the new program, they will be stated.

The behavioral objectives system can be considered an in-depth course of study.

Metzler also noted that there would be coordination among the different classes. Two teacher's instructing the same course would now have a program to follow, definite objectives to stress to the students, so teacher of class A would give his students the same basic information as teacher in class B. Thus any students leaving a sixth grade class in any elementary school, if he had satisfactorily accomplished the objectives, would be able to enter a seventh grade class with students from all over the district combined and all should be near the same achievement level.

A child in elementary school learning about vowel sounds may be asked to write the long and short vowel sounds of words the teacher pronounces. This may be one of the objectives required at that teaching level for reading accomplishment.

Behavioral objectives force a teacher to individualize his instruction. But it may one day eliminate the present grading system which is termed "inadequate." While one teacher may believe "B" work is well done and reserve "A's" for extra efforts, a parent may feel that his child is deserving of an "A" because he always received that letter grade before. The present system is only a teacher's personal opinion on a child's progress written in very simple terms. Another teacher, given the same performance, could arrive at a totally different level of accomplishment.

* * *

BY stating definite objectives, the teacher can produce a firm reason for a child's position in class. "Johnny can or cannot perform a required skill." "He can perform it, but not within the time limit given." "He cannot perform his skill under all conditions."

Jacobs feels that the district's first efforts will most likely to be a compromise between broad goals now considered and using specific objectives to attain those goals. But the city is investigating such programs which may be underway in the future.

Circleville School Board Employs Teachers Aides

Teaching aides, about half the number used last year in city schools, were employed at the September session of the Board of Education.

Aides and their assignments and substitutes were listed and board approval given for their employment for the 1971-72 school year. This year none were hired under Title I because of provision in that program. The cut in aides was due to a small pupil-teacher ratio.

Assignments were given to:

Atwater — Ruth Rihl, sixth; Dorothy Tarbill and Marion Fischer, fourth; Dorothy Knecht and Gardenia Roll, third; Myrna Denny, Marlene Moody and Clara Dumm, second; Carol Jacobs, first.

* * *

MOUND —Marcella Shea, fifth; Jeannine Doering and Eleanor Stocklen, first.

High Street — Gloria Simison, fifth.

South Court — Marilyn Arledge, first.

Nicholas Drive — Teresa Allen, third; Jo Ann Fox, fifth; Virginia Jones, sixth.

Other employment was offered to Trudy Yates, Carolyn Herel and Jacqueline Jolliffe who work as library aides beginning Sept. 13.

Wanda Matesky was hired as school nurse under the Title I program and Barbara Frazier, part time school nurse's secretary. Mrs. Frazier also works as part time secretary at the junior high. Carol Cupp, bus driver, and Martha Purcell, study hall monitor, both offered their services as substitutes.

* * *

AN alteration was made in a contract for Mrs. Mabel Poling, a careferia worker. Her hours were increased from half-time to two-thirds time because of the work load at Nicholas Drive.

Seconday teaching substitutes offering their services included Richard Straw, Georgia Reid, Lois Heffelfinger, Patricia Sackinger, Charlene Klim, John L. Morgan, Annette Will.

On the elementary level, the following teachers offered to serve as substitutes: Carol List, Pearl Porter, Linda Stevenson, Dawn Morrison, Jane Vollmar, Betty Dengler.

Transportation and tuition for seven deaf children were arranged to Columbus schools. John Robinson was engaged to provide the youngsters with transportation to the special schools.

A copy of a directive issued to all teachers in the district revealed the school's plan to pay their teachers under last year's schedule for the duration of the wage - price freeze. Teachers new to the system will also receive paychecks made out under this schedule according to training and experience. Teachers who moved to a different training level (from non-degree to degree, BA to five years or five years to MA) will receive that benefit, but on last year's schedule.

Following the freeze, the new schedule will begin. Doris Gillespie and Richard Fisher were granted permission to attend an annual college articulation conference Sept. 17 at Marietta College. The two high school guidance counselors and Evelyn Ralston were also given the nod to represent Circleville at the All-Ohio Guidance Conference next week in Columbus.

* * *

DONALD Metzler and Paul Sarchet will be attending a leadership conference Oct. 7-8 in Columbus and Sharon Ryan a librarian conference Oct. 28, 29 and 30 in Cleveland. Paul Sarchet was also selected to attend a workshop in drug education Oct. 5 in Columbus.

The board agreed to contract with Denver Greenlee for the purchase of about $1,000 of musical instruments each year over a six year period for both junior and senior bands.

A resignation effective Sept. 30 was received Monday from Dorothy Winell and accepted. The superintendent was granted permission to find a replacement as soon as possible subject to board approval at their next session.

Blaze Kills 6 Persons, Injures 11

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A fire swept through a nursing home early today and officials reported six persons killed and 11 injured.

Police said 18 persons were in the Lil Haven nursing home when the blaze broke out on the second floor of the 2½-story brick and wood building. All but one of the 12 survivors was hospitalized.

Their conditions were not known.

The fire was put out in 30 minutes. City Fire Marshal Ben Andrus said an investigation of the cause would begin today.

"I went through yelling, 'Fire, fire,' but some of them wouldn't get out," said the nursing home manager, Monte Waldron.

Neighbors said some of the patients couldn't speak English.

"There weren't any old people, some were war veterans," said Lorna Boozer, a neighbor. "Some were handicapped and two were bed-ridden. It's sort of a special nursing home."

The owner of the nursing home, Lillian Waldron, was visiting relatives in Chattanooga, Tenn., her husband said.

Clinic Director To Serve On Conference Panel

Malcolm W. Lentz, M. D., Medical Director of the Ross County TB Clinic and a practicing physician in Chillicothe, will serve on a panel at the Ohio Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assn. Fall District Conference.

The Conference will be held Sept. 22 at the Imperial House South in Dayton. Dr. Lentz and his panel will be speaking on "Prevention and The Pill" concerning the prevention and cure of Tuberculosis.

Those attending the Conference will be: Mrs. John Summers, Jr., Mrs. Gary T. Detty and Mrs. John W. Stevens representing the South Central Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association; Mrs. Charles Wright, R. N. and Mrs. Joseph Brant representing the Ross County TB Clinic; and Mrs. Janet Rose, R. N. representing Jackson Health Department.

Court Gets $86 In Bond Forfeits

Circleville Municipal Court collected $86 in bond forfeitures from four local motorists Tuesday.

John Meyers, 407 S. Pickaway St., forfeited $24 after being charged with speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Kenneth White, 325 Sunset St., posted and forfeited $24 on a charge of failing to heed a stop sign.

Averil Anderson, Route 2, Laurelville, and Michael Webb, 109 Dunmore Road, both forfeited $19 bonds when charged with speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Safety Failures Being Alleged In Ship Blaze

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — American Ship Building Co. has until Oct. 5 to reply to charges by the U. S. Dept. of Labor Tuesday that it allegedly violated six federal safety requirements that may have contributed to a fatal fire June 24 on the ore carrier Roger Blough.

Four workmen were killed in the $10 million fire at the firm's Loraïn shipbuilding yards.

Glen Butler, department compliance officer, said if American Ship fails to contest the citations, the word "alleged" would be removed and the firm would be fined a total of $10,000 for four alleged "willful" violations and two "serious" violaations.

He said if the citations are contested, the case would go before a three-man review board. He said the final decision could also be contested in federal court.

8 - Party Phones Nixed By PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Eight-party rural telephone service no longer is permitted in Ohio.

Under revised minimum telephone service standards adopted by the Public Utilities Commission, the number of parties per line in rural areas now may not exceed five.

The commission filed the new standards with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown Tuesday under the Administrative Procedures Act. They became effective immediately.

The standards declare that residential service may not exceed two parties per line in urban areas, and that business service in densely populated areas must be on individual lines only.

The standards are part of the code of rules and regulations of the commission. Chairman Henry W. Eckhart said they had not been revised since October, 1963.

Other provisions of the new standards were:

Effective at once, all telephone companies must have facilities which will allow 95 per cent of all calls placed to get dial tones within three seconds. Effective Jan. 1, 1976, 97 per cent of all calls must get dial tones within three seconds.

—All telephone directories must list a notice that customers not satisfied with handling of their service problems by the company involved may take their complaint direct to the commission.

—Telephone companies are required to make a full and prompt investigation of all complaints by customers, including those directed to the commission.

—Noise induction, cross talk or poor transmission characteristics must be corrected immediately, and equipment which is not of sufficient quality and capacity to prevent these interferences must be replaced immediately.

—Interruption of service must be minimal, and appropriate adjustments or refunds must be made for telephones out of service longer than 24 hours.

Texas Faces New Threat Of Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rains spawned by Tropical Storm Edith threatened Southern Texas today where thousands already were homeless because of flooding caused by Tropical Storm Fern.

Light rain fell in the Corpus Christi area, and Edith, lingering in the Gulf about 100 miles south of Brownsville, was expected to move north, gale warnings flew from Brownsville to Port Mansfield.

Heidi disintegrated as a tropical storm over Northern Maine, but she induced rains from Maine to New York.

Nine persons drowned and four were missing in flash floods caused by Heidi in Pennsylvania. A state of emergency was declared in five southern Pennsylvania counties.

Cold polar air—possibly bringing frost—pushed southeastward from the Rockies into Western Nebraska, the Dakotas and the upper Mississippi Valley. The temperature fell to 29 in Fraser, Colo., long before daybreak. Daytime readings in the cold air region were not expected to rise above the 60s.

Fair weather dominated the remainder of the country, but a few showers sprinkled the middle Mississippi Valley.

Temperature before dawn ranged from 29 at Fraser, Colo., to 94 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Under revised minimum telephone service standards adopted by the Public Utilities Commission, the number of parties per line in rural areas now may not exceed five.

The commission filed the new standards with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown Tuesday under the Administrative Procedures Act. They became effective immediately.

The standards declare that residential service may not exceed two parties per line in urban areas, and that business service in densely populated areas must be on individual lines only.

The standards are part of the code of rules and regulations of the commission. Chairman Henry W. Eckhart said they had not been revised since October, 1963.

Other provisions of the new standards were:

Effective at once, all telephone companies must have facilities which will allow 95 per cent of all calls placed to get dial tones within three seconds. Effective Jan. 1, 1976, 97 per cent of all calls must get dial tones within three seconds.

—All telephone directories must list a notice that customers not satisfied with handling of their service problems by the company involved may take their complaint direct to the commission.

—Telephone companies are required to make a full and prompt investigation of all complaints by customers, including those directed to the commission.

—Noise induction, cross talk or poor transmission characteristics must be corrected immediately, and equipment which is not of sufficient quality and capacity to prevent these interferences must be replaced immediately.

—Interruption of service must be minimal, and appropriate adjustments or refunds must be made for telephones out of service longer than 24 hours.

Texas Faces New Threat Of Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rains spawned by Tropical Storm Edith threatened Southern Texas today where thousands already were homeless because of flooding caused by Tropical Storm Fern.

Light rain fell in the Corpus Christi area, and Edith, lingering in the Gulf about 100 miles south of Brownsville, was expected to move north, gale warnings flew from Brownsville to Port Mansfield.

Heidi disintegrated as a tropical storm over Northern Maine, but she induced rains from Maine to New York.

Nine persons drowned and four were missing in flash floods caused by Heidi in Pennsylvania. A state of emergency was declared in five southern Pennsylvania counties.

Cold polar air—possibly bringing frost—pushed southeastward from the Rockies into Western Nebraska, the Dakotas and the upper Mississippi Valley. The temperature fell to 29 in Fraser, Colo., long before daybreak. Daytime readings in the cold air region were not expected to rise above the 60s.

Fair weather dominated the remainder of the country, but a few showers sprinkled the middle Mississippi Valley.

Temperature before dawn ranged from 29 at Fraser, Colo., to 94 at Phoenix, Ariz.
